GREAT CROWDS HEAR HARDING

The Throngs Smash All the Records.

HARDING ATTACKS HARMON'S COURSE

In His Speech at Bowling Green.

The Governor Inaugurates Campaign of Mud-Slinging, Says Harding, but He Will Have To Carry It on Alone — Congressman Howland Declares All Garfield Progressives Are for Harding for Governor.

Bowling Green, Oct 13—Governor Harmon's participation as a beneficiary under the old system of depositing state funds was the feature of Warren G Harding's address here last night The charge that Harmon owned 700 shares of stock in a Cincinnati bank which had state funds, was made by Harding as part answer to Harmon's insinuation that Harding had been involved in treasury grafts

Harmon had inaugurated a campaign of mud-slinging, Harding said, but he would have to carry it on alone Harding would sling no mud He would not impugn Harmon's motives in owning stock in a bank which carried deposits of state money

Harding put in his hardest campaigning, yesterday, leaving Toledo at 7 o'clock in the morning for a 150-mile tour of Wood county, involving eighteen speeches At one time there were fifty automobiles in the party, loaded with Republican enthusiasts According to local Republicans the crowds which gathered to hear Harding at the several stops smashed all records

Harding, in his speech last night, as usual, placed particular emphasis on the retention and reappointment of Democratic grafters by Governor Harmon He said in part

Governor Harmon cites the fact that in 1907 I recommended a Marion bank as a safe depository for state funds and attempts to mix me with treasury abuses I will speak of this just once It is quite apparent Governor Harmon wants to avoid a discussion of his masterly inactivity as governor and his reappointment to office of petty Democratic grafters and convert this into a campaign of mud-slinging Well, Governor Harmon can make such a campaign if he wants to, but he won't get any help from me I put a little higher estimate on the intelligence and taste of people

The Vital Issues.

'I am going to go on discussing only his political record and the other matters which are the vital issues in this campaign I did recommend a Marion bank as the depository for the state funds, back in 1907 Why shouldn't I? I was a private citizen then, but that is neither here nor there I would do the same thing again, under like circumstances, whether a private citizen or in public life The bank I recommended was then, as it is now, as sound and substantial an institution as any other in the state It received state funds for deposit and paid interest on those funds to the state Is there anything wrong about that? Of course not

"I asked no favors that any one could not honestly and honorably seek I have recommended banks for national depositories where no interest was paid I am that kind of a booster in my own city, and I want people to know it It is clean and honest, and it is agreeable to me to have it discovered Governor Harmon knows it is all right

"But what hypocrisy is this' At the time Governor Harmon was making his campaign two years ago the Provident Savings & Trust Company of Cincinnati in which he owns $70,000 worth of stock, was carrying a deposit of state funds to the amount of $50,000 At the time I recommended the Marion bank for a depository for state funds there were 170 separate banks in Ohio, in fifty different counties carrying legitimate deposits of funds of the state Governor Harmon's insinuation not only involves himself but involves every one of the banking institutions in Ohio

Governor Harmon knows also that the suit brought against my newspaper in the matter of charges for public printing was brought at my personal solicitation Not only that, but he knows that as publisher of the Marion Star I accepted and printed thousands of dollars' worth of public printing at just one-half the rate which the law authorized me to charge and receive Governor Harmon knows these things, yet he goes about Ohio making speeches so adroitly phrased as to lead the people to believe that I am a grafter, not only as a private citizen but as a newspaper publisher Well, I will tell you what you do If you believe I am a grafter don't vote for me

Where Trouble Lies.

'You can readily see what the trouble is—the trouble is Judson Harmon's record as governor Ohio for two years Two years of administration without a single accomplishment I give him full credit for the part he took in disclosures of graft in the state house But Governor Harmon can not lay claim to re-election on his pursuit of his graft, for he hasn't kept the faith He proclaims against graft in a political campaign and as a public official he condones it I preach honesty and promise to practice it If Governor Harmon knows a dishonest act of mine in the public service, I challenge him to proclaim it

'There is little use here to go into details about the record of State Treasurer Creamer You learned all about that long ago from your friend and neighbor, Senator Richard A Beatty You sent Beatty, a Democrat, to the senate, because he was an honest man Senator Beatty was the head of the probe committee provided by the Republican general assembly The work of that committee is known over the state as the Beatty probe It developed that Treasurer Creamer and other Democrats, every one of whom continues on the state's pay roll, were guilty of irregularity

You know that Treasurer Creamer was renominated in the Democratic state convention which was controlled absolutely by Governor Harmon You know, because you have confidence in Senator Beatty's statement, that Governor Harmon was said to have attempted to prevent the creation of the probe committee which did such excellent work in uncovering grafters You know that Treasurer Creamer's record is such that Senator Beatty, a staunch Democrat, but an honest man and patriotic citizen, has de-

HEAVY RAINFALL QUENCHES FIRES

Conditions Improve in the Fire Zone.

FIRE SUFFERERS NEEDING HELP

Food and Clothing Being Sent to Refugees.

Governor Eberhart and Party Are Still Confining Efforts To Relieving Refugees and Looking After Sanitary Conditions About the Burned Towns—Towns Will Be Rebuilt at Once.

Beaudette, Minn Oct 13—The crisis in the forest fire situated about here and Spooner is now believed to be passed After a heavy thunder and rain storm last night a steady rain fell today and if it continues the fires will be quenched

Governor Eberhart and his party are still confining their efforts to relieving the refugees and looking after the sanitary conditions about the burned towns Conditions are improving to such an extent that the governor plans to leave Friday

Food and clothing for the fire sufferers continued to pour in, today, and lumber is being shipped in as fast as possible so that the rebuilding of the destroyed towns may be started

No additional reports of lives lost have been received from straggling refugees coming in from the country districts Nineteen men and two boys five and seven years old, arrived here early today after a twenty five mile walk through the woods from the Rapid River country They reported their homes had been destroyed but all persons had escaped injury

The party had been subsisting on vegetables since the fire and said their families were living in shacks, waiting for them to return with supplies

The men were fitted out and started back

Oil Refinery Destroyed

Norfolk Va Oct 13—The refining plant of the Portsmouth Oil Refinery company was destroyed by fire yesterday, causing a loss of $150,000.

MANY HOOSIERS HEAR ROOSEVELT

He Is Greeted by Enthusiastic Crowds.

THE COLONEL LAUDS SENATOR BEVERIDGE

Asks People To Return Him to Senate.

Roosevelt Declares That If Indiana Defeats Beveridge It Can Not Explain It to the People of the Country—Fairbanks Boards Roosevelt Train in Trip Across State, but He Makes No Speeches.

Veedersburg, Ind, Oct 13—Three thousand people turned out here, today, to hear Colonel Theodore Roosevelt ask Indiana to send Albert J Beveridge back to the senate of the United States The crowd was interesting and attentive but by no means over-enthusiastic

Roosevelt was introduced by F F Neal, candidate for congress against Representative Morrison as the greatest fighter in the world

The colonel discussed the tariff, declaring it his conviction that the American people are, by a vast majority, in favor of a protective tariff equalizing the cost of production here and abroad He cited as the proper method of securing the exact measure of protection and the tariff the commission scheme which Senator Beveridge has advocated

Those that follow Senator Beveridge, he declared, are bound that the difference in the cost of production shall be honestly ascertained and the results thus ascertained honestly used in framing an honest law

"The difference can not be ascertained by dickering or log-rolling among the special interests who are affected by the tariff

A Great Struggle.

It must be found by a commission of competent experts examining each individual schedule of the tariff by itself apart from the hundreds of other schedules and the interests affected by these other schedules Senator Beveridge stands for those principles of honesty that mean so much in public life to-day If you defeat Senator Beveridge you defeat a man that stands for what is decent in our government

The colonel declared that the state of Indiana, which gave its men so freely to the great struggle of the civil war should now rally to the defense of pubic honesty in the great struggle for political purity which he said now confronts the nation and which he claimed was as great a crisis as the civil war "You have put your cause with Senator Beveridge, declared the colonel 'I have come here to speak for him because he embodies all that we stand for in our struggle for honest government

Likes Game Fighter.

Don't forget that if Indiana beats Beveridge you can not explain it to the people of the country, on any other ground than that Indiana does not intend to reward a man who serves its people honestly and against the special interests'

I like a game fighter for the right said the colonel, 'and that is why I am here to speak for Senator Albert J Beveridge and if you really believe that a public man ought to fight for the public good you will send Beveridge back to the United States senate If Indiana votes against Beveridge it will be understood as punishing a man who strove to bring his party abreast of the progressive sentiment of his state'

The colonel spoke of the fight against corruption, remarking that in New York we have just won a victory inside of our own party on the issue straight and clear of public purity against bossism the negation of democracy

Former Vice President Fairbanks boarded the Roosevelt train for the flying trip across Indiana, but made no speeches

Campus Crowded.

Crawfordsville, Ind, Oct 13—Fully 7,000 people crowded the campus of Wabash college to hear Colonel Roosevelt speak for Senator Beveridge, today The colonel delivered his usual tariff commission talk and called on Indiana to lead the country in the fight for progress by sending Beveridge back to the senate

"There were some differences,' Roosevelt declared, between Beveridge and certain Republicans at Washington, but there was no difference between Beveridge and the bulk of the Republican party throughout the country What difference there was was not lateral They were not far apart Merely Beveridge and the rank and file of the party had gone too far ahead, but the other will catch up They are bound in the right direction, they are a little slow in starting, but they are all right

The crowd was attentive and thoughtful, but not enthusiastic After his speech, the colonel rode through Crawfordsville in an automobile and boarded his train for Lafayette

Colonel Is Delayed

As he left the college campus between two long rows of Wabash college students the boys threw their red and yellow caps in his path, shouting, Walk on them, walk on them' The colonel did

As his automobile waited at the station for the special train the colonel held an informal reception reaching from the automobile to shake hands with hundreds of men, women and children Beveridge sat beside him in the machine

Colonel Roosevelt's train was delayed about half an hour by an error in the railroad arrangements The colonel and his party sat in their automobiles in the blazing sun at the little flag station where he was to board the train and the colonel improved the time by holding an informal reception about his car The delay threatened to disrupt the entire arrangements for the trip across Indiana and the colonel was much wrought up by the time the train put in an appearance

At Lafayette.

Lafayette, Ind, Oct 13—Shouting to 20,000 enthusiasts from the balustrade of the balcony of the Lincoln club, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt declared that he had no doubt of the success of the campaign of Senator Beveridge

After pointing out the way to vote for Beveridge was to vote for Beveridge candidates for the legislature, Roosevelt said

'I have seen it suggested even if a Republican legislature is elected,

SUITORS COME BY THE SCORE

Washington Girl Advertises for a Husband.

HER SPECIAL PRIZE PROVES ALLURING

And Fraulein Can Pick Out Her Choice.

Miss Eugenie Adams Offers Prize of $200 to Man Who Will Marry Her and She Is Besieged with Applications by Mail and Wire—Hundreds Call at Newspaper Office Seeking Girl's Hand, and Cash.

Washington, Oct 13—The tempting prospect of a husky fraulein for a bride and $200 cash as a special prize proved so alluring to Washington men that the offices of the newspaper here which published Miss Eugenie Adams' appeal for a husband, were thronged, today, with eager suitors for the hand of Eugenie and the $200.

If Miss Adams had not gone to Philadelphia, yesterday afternoon, she could have had her choice of more than 100 applicants They would have lined up and let her take her pick from the lot which included all sorts of male humanity

A big brawny policeman, a squint-eyed Italian, an aged government clerk, a handsome young telegraph operator a fat German bartender, a raw-boned rural Virginian, a smirking Japanese, and many others declared their willingness to 'take a chance But the decadence of knighthood was hinted at in most cases, when the suitor first asked 'Has she really got the two hundred?'

Every one declared that he would gladly marry the girl so she could get her inheritance under the terms of her uncle's will, and would let her go to Germany to get it Many applicants by wire and mail were sent to her in Philadelphia and to Washington suitors fear she will be married before she returns to the capital

EVERY SOLDIER IS UNDER ARMS

An Insurrection Is Feared in Spain.

ALFONSO PREPARES TO CRUSH REVOLT

Every Reservist Summoned to Colors

Barcelona, the Hotbed of Sedition and Spot Where Dr Ferrer Is Shot by Troops, Is Under Martial Law. King Says He Will Take Personal Command of Situation and Lead Soldiers If Necessary

Madrid, via Hendaye France, Oct 13—Ferrer day found Spain an armed camp, with every soldier in the empire under arms Alfonso, confident in the loyalty of his army, was prepared to crush an attempted insurrection with an iron hand

Under direction of Premier Canalejas every reservist had been summoned to the colors and every large city in Spain was occupied by immense numbers of soldiers, whose orders were to assist the civil authorities to the limit in preventing an outbreak

Barcelona, the hotbed of sedition and the spot where Dr Ferrer was shot by the troops, October 13, last year, is under martial law, with nearly as many soldiers on duty as there are inhabitants in the city

King Alfonso has announced that in the event of an uprising he is confident that he can count upon the army to support him He will take personal command of the situation and lead his soldiers in any fighting that may be necessary The king's reckless personal courage during the Barcelona outbreaks last year had much to do with quelling the outbreak

Leaves of absence to officers and private have been suspended for seven days and all troops not on duty are being kept in barracks, so that they may be rushed to the point of any trouble at a moment's notice

Spanish Consul Threatened

New York, Oct 13—I do not think there will be a revolution in Spain The army and navy are loyal to the king Besides Spain has already had her experience as a republic and she did not like it,' today, declared Emilio Pereira Spanish consul general to New York, who had received letters threatening to blow up the consulate on the anniversary of the execution of Professor Ferrer in Barcelona

I had intended to keep my office closed, today said Pereira, 'because of the many threatening letters I have received, but the Spanish steamer Antonio Lopez, has arrived and I am thus forced to go to the office to clear her I am afraid there will be some trouble, and I will shoot the man who touches me, today I went all through the Carlist troubles on the French Spanish frontier

The consul general carried a big revolver in his breast pocket when he left his apartments for the consulate, this morning

KNABENSHUE TALKS OF LONG FLIGHTS

Claims Expenses Are Extremely Heavy for Aviators.

St Louis Mo, Oct 13—"It is worth more than $30,000 in expenses to attempt a flight from Chicago to New York The man who tries the flight which Eugene Ely has just abandoned will lose money

Speking for the Wright brothers whose aviators are performing here this week Manager Roy Knabenshue yesterday, in his statement eliminated the Dayton inventors from the big contest that is now without an entry The Wrights will not enter any of their aviators in any Chicago to New York flight

We believe also that an offer of $30,000 posted by W R Hearst for a coast to coast flight is asinine when the purse is compared to the actual cost of such an undertaking The wear and tear on a machine the cost of new parts and other supplies are the least of the many expenses demanded by the flight'

Judge Makes Request

Guthrie Okla, Oct 13—Anticipating it is believed that attorneys for the defense would attempt to sweat him off the bench as a prejudiced judge, Federal Judge J M Cottrell, yesterday requested Circuit Judge W A Sanborn of St Paul to preside when the famous grandfather clause amendment case is brought up for trial.

SECRETARY SENDS OUT THE OFFICIAL BALLOT

There Are Five Parties Represented on the Ballot.

Columbus, O, Oct 13—Secretary of State Thompson, today, sent out to each county election board the official ballot which will be used at the November election To this ballot will be added the names of the candidates for congress, judge, legislative and county offices On the first column of the ballot is the constitutional amendment proposition The question is Shall there be a convention to revise, alter or amend the constitution?"

There are five parties represented on the ballot namely, Democratic, Republican, Socialist Prohibition and Socialist Labor The candidates for governor are Judson Harmon, Democrat Warren G Harding, Republican Tom Clifford Socialist Henry A Thompson, Prohibition, and J R Marley, Socialist Labor

The time for the filing of tickets having expired last Saturday night, no vacancies could be filled on any ticket should there be any between now and election day

ENGLISH AVIATOR COMES TO AMERICA

White Will Attempt To Break Hoxsey's Record.

Washington, Oct 13— It is now certain that aviation will revolutionize warfare, declared General Nelson A Miles, in an address of welcome to Claude Grahame-White the English aviator, who will begin a series of flights here this afternoon and will attempt to break Archie Hoxsey's long distance record

Grahame-White will make his flights from Benning race course

Clifford B Harmon will join him in the exhibition The main event will be an attempt to capture a $10,000 prize for a sustained flight exceeding Hoxsey's ninety-one mile record It was at first planned to fly to Baltimore and return, but this was abandoned as too hazardous and Grahame-White will endeavor to break the record without leaving the environs of Washington

TENER MAKES WARM REPLY

Pennsylvanian Flays Quaker City Paper.

NORTH AMERICAN MAKES CHARGES

Against Candidate and Sends Out Letters.

Tener Says Relations with the Public Utilities Corporation Are Entirely Straightforward and Honorable in Every Respect—Claims Paper Attempts To Besmirch His Character by Its Statements

Pittsburg Pa Oct 13—It is a palpable attempt to besmirch my character and to question my integrity without the slightest justification, without a scintilla of fact upon which to base an intimation of wrongdoing on my part

In these words John K Tener, Republican candidate for governor of Pennsylvania here, today, denied charges against him published in the Philadelphia North American and he accused the publishers of exploiting the circulation of the paper by advertising in advance that the sensational charges were to be printed and soliciting sales from politicians on the ground that they would make a good campaign document

My relations with the Public Utilities corporation, Tener declared 'were entirely straightforward and honorable in every respect I became connected with this company in the ordinary course of business through W L Chrisman, a reputable attorney in Philadelphia and now president of the company There is absolutely nothing to conceal nor anything that calls for an explanation

My attention has been called to a circular letter issued over the signature of the circulation manager, and in which orders for the purchase of copies of today's issue were solicited two days ago from politicians laboring for the defeat of the Republican party The aim of those interested in the publication was to have the paper distributed as a campaign document'

Tener had with him a copy of the letter he says was distributed by the North American's business office

CLAIMS WOMEN RULE THE WORLD

English Suffragette Arrives in New York.

SHE SAYS MEN ARE MOULDED BY WOMEN

Men Will Never Be Other Than Secondary.

Mrs Philip Snowden Says While Women Rule the World They Rule It Badly and Need the Ballot To Rule It Well—Says Chances for Women's Suffrage in Great Britain Are Excellent.

New York, Oct 13—"Women rule the world because they rule the child said Mrs Philip Snowden, wife of the chairman of the national administrative council of the Independent Labor party of England and leading members of the British parliament here today Mrs Snowden is one of the most prominent suffragettes of England and with her husband is making a tour of the United States

The great artist, the great poet, owes more to his mother than to his father, she continued 'He is moulded by a woman to mould the thoughts of others Man will never be other than secondary But woman's influence, existing as it does today, without responsibility is ruling the world very badly Women need the ballot to rule the world well

Those who believe in masculine domination over woman who see in her a chattel or a servant of man, are, of course, opposed to the idea of sex equality of suffrage As a matter of fact, the chances for women's suffrage in Great Britain are excellent The present government is in a blue funk over the suffrage question It does not know which way to turn

'I think the conciliation bill which grants suffrage, will be passed when parliament assembles If not then the men's suffrage league, organized to aid women in getting the ballot, will take a hand in the campaign It will put up a candidate at every election and thus beat the government and this will teach a needed lesson to the incoming government"

Tax on Foodstuffs

New York, Oct 13—"One of the first uses that women will make of the ballot when they have won their right to vote will be to vote against the tax on foodstuffs In fact in my estimation, the enfranchisement of women would be one of the surest means of reducing the cost of living

This was the declaration, today, of Philip Snowden, member of the English parliament, who with his wife has come to study political conditions in America

Snowden and his wife are confident of the ultimate triumph of the English suffragettes

SOCIALIST URGES A NEW WAGE SCALE

Milwaukee Alderman Introduces Resolution in Council.

Milwaukee, Wis, Oct 13—Taking the stand that the city corporation should set a good example for paying fair wages, Alderman Victor L Berger, Socialist, has introduced a resolution in the city council here fixing a daily wage of two dollars for eight hours for all common laborers employed by the city In his resolution Berger pointed out that the continual increase in the cost of living acts with particular hardship upon the laborers and said the city 'ought to set an example for paying fair wages in that community by paying fair wages itself

The resolution asked that 'the two-dollar wage scale go into effect January 1, 1911"

KAISER HAS ROW WITH CHANCELLOR

Chancellor Declines Certain Expenses Upon the Nation.

Berlin, Oct 13—The Kaiser has become involved in another row with his chancellor, this time over his demand that Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg place an appropriation of $75,000 in the budget to meet the expenses of the crown prince on his forthcoming trip to China.

Bethmann-Hollweg declined to saddle this expense upon the nation, the newspapers report, and the Kaiser will be compelled to pay it from his privy purse.

DR. JASPER S. MILES CLAIMED BY DEATH

Dr. Miles Reaches the Age of Eighty-Seven Years.

Waldo, Oct. 12—[Special.] Dr. Jasper S. Miles, who would have reached the age of eighty-seven years had he lived another month, died at his home here at 7 o'clock, Tuesday evening, after an illness of nearly two years of bronchial trouble.

Dr. Miles was born in Huron county and was a graduate of Starling Medical college. After finishing his course in school, he practiced medicine in Indiana and in the northern part of Ohio for about twenty years, when he moved to Radnor. He practiced in Delaware and Marion counties about thirty years. Twenty-six years ago, he located at Waldo. He was united in marriage to Miss Harriett High, thirty-three years ago, and she survives him.

The funeral services will be held at the Reformed church at Waldo, Friday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. James Turner, pastor of the United Brethren church at Cardington, will officiate. Interment will be made at Waldo.

No Protection for Seagulls.

Seagulls have increased in numbers so enormously in Devonshire, and have caused so much damage to fish, that the Devon sea fisheries committee has passed a resolution in favor of the removal of protection from the birds and their eggs. It was estimated that one gull ate ten fish in twenty-four hours.—Pall Mall Gazette.

EARL R. JOHNSON IS FINED BY THE MAYOR

Exceeds Speed Limit in Riding a Motorcycle.

CHARLES LANDON IS IN THE POLICE COURT

Is Given Suspended Workhouse Sentence on an Agreement To Provide for His Family—C. N. Heidlebaugh Arrested on Complaint of Earnest W. Price—Police Court Notes.

Earl R. Johnson, who was arrested Wednesday morning, on a charge of riding his motorcycle in excess of the speed limit, appeared next morning, before the mayor and changed his plea to guilty. A fine of one dollar and the costs in the case was assessed against him.

On an affidavit filed against him by his wife, Charles Landon was arrested, Wednesday, on a charge of failing to provide for his three minor children. When arraigned before the mayor, Landon entered a plea of guilty. He was fined $10 and the costs in the case and sentenced to six months in the Columbus workhouse. The workhouse sentence was suspended on the agreement that if Landon lives with his wife, she be allowed to draw his pay, and in case they are separated he pay her the sum of $30 a month for the support of the children.

A bicycle with a carriet basket was found on the street, Wednesday night, by Officer Powell and was taken to police station to await an owner.

On an affidavit filed against him by Earnest W. Price, C. N. Heidlebaugh, local manager and driver for the Jewell Tea company, was arrested Thursday by Officer Cusick on a charge of making an assault on Anna Price, of Owen street. Heidlebaugh plead not guilty when arraigned before the mayor, stating that he did not strike the woman. He said he laid his hands on her, but did not abuse or injure her. He felt that he would be able to have the charge withdrawn if he could interview the woman and as a result was accompanied to her home by Chief Kluefelter. She refused to withdraw the affidavit without the consent of her husband.

After being held at the mayor's office about an hour, Heidlebaugh changed his plea to guilty and was fined three dollars and the costs in the case. He paid the amount and was released.

OBSERVANCE OF THE DAY OF ATONEMENT

The Jewish People Hold Special Services.

The members of the Congregation of Israel Thursday observed Yom Kippur, on the day of atonement, and all Jewish merchants had their stores closed. This is a fast day, observed by the Jewish people, and a day when atonement is made for sins committed during the past year.

The observance of the day began at 6 o'clock, Wednesday evening, and special services were held in the hall of the Congregation of Israel in the Masonic temple at 7:30 o'clock, Wednesday night. Henry Strelitz, who had charge of the services read the prayer and sermon. A choir composed of Mrs. V. E. Dombaugh, Mrs. C. L. Allen, Mrs. Edson Bush, Mr. J. Howard Wetmore and H. S. Martin, furnished special music.

Thursday services were held at 10 o'clock, and in the afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Miss Anna M. Gunder and Mr. Clarence E. Huber.

The marriage of Miss Anna M. Gunder and Mr. Clarence E. Huber was celebrated at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elva C. Gunder, of Oak street, at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The marriage rites were performed in the presence of a small company of the immediate friends and relatives of the young people, Dr. David H. Bailey, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Huber will visit the parents of the groom in Toledo, and from there will journey to Chicago and St. Louis. They will be gone a couple of weeks and will then return to take up their residence here.

Mr. and Mrs. Huber have a wide circle of friends throughout the city who will be pleased to learn of their marriage.

JOINED IN MARRIAGE AT HOME OF PASTOR

Miss Bertha L. Merkle and Mr. James J. Hinamon.

Miss Bertha L. Merkle and Mr. James J. Hinamon were united in marriage, shortly after 7 o'clock, Tuesday evening, by Rev. D. H. Bailey, the ceremony being performed at the personage of the Epworth M. E. church. The couple was unattended, the marriage being planned as a surprise for the relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Hinamon left for a short trip and on their return will take up their residence on north Scott street where the groom has prepared a home. They will be at home to their friends after November 1.

Weeks Lived Long Enough to Win.

Mr. Henry C. Weeks, the New York architect who years ago moved the mouth of his Long Island neighbors by pouring oil into swamps to keep down mosquitoes, lived long enough to have the laugh on his side, dying Friday at the age of 66. His is not the only instance, by thousands, of the pioneer being called crazy by those whom he was seeking to benefit by an operation that justifies itself. Fulton was crazy in the opinion of those who jeered him as he went on his way to the yard where the Clermont was building. Their incredulity was different in expression only from that of Napoleon, who assured Napoleon that there was nothing in Fulton's idea save that steam had about enough motive power to propel a child's plaything.

Bad Company.

How do men feel whose whole lives (and many men's lives are) are lies, subterfuges and subterfuges? What sort of company do they keep when they are alone? Daily in life I watch men whose every smile is an artifice and every wink an hypocrisy. Doth such a fellow wear a mask in his own privacy and to his own conscience?—Thackeray.

A man is justified in considering marriage a failure merely because his wife snores.

DEATH THE RESULT OF A VERY LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Louis Mayer Dies Wednesday Night.

MRS. MAYER PASSES ENTIRE LIFE IN CITY

Husband and Family of Grown Children Left To Mourn Loss. Mrs. Mayer Is a Christian Woman Held in the Highest Esteem of Friends—Funeral Services.

Mrs. Mary Mayer, wife of Louis Mayer, of No. 404 Cherry street, died at her home, Wednesday night at 9:45 o'clock, of a complication of diseases of which she has been a sufferer for years. Several months ago, she passed through a successful operation, but later complications developed and her death was not unexpected.

Mrs. Mayer was fifty-six years of ago and a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayer, of this city. She was united in marriage to Mr. Mayer over thirty years ago and to this union were born two daughters, Mrs. Robert Ferguson and Mrs. Samuel Berklew, and one son, Carl Mayer, all residing in Marion. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Louis Scherff and Mrs. John Beicher, and two brothers, Frank and Charles Mayer, of this city.

The deceased was a devout member of the German M. E. church and a member of several organizations in Marion. She was a woman of excellent character and commanded the love and esteem of her many friends. For the past thirty years she has resided in the home in which she died.

The funeral was held from the residence, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. C. E. Buerkle officiating. The remains were interred in the Marion cemetery.

CLARENCE DIETZ IS RELEASED ON BAIL

Uncle Aids Son of Defender of Cameron Dam.

Hayward, Wis., Oct. 13—Clarence Dietz, oldest son of the defender of Cameron dam, was given his liberty, yesterday, on $3,000 bail, furnished by his uncle, William Dietz of Rice Lake, Wisconsin.

Clarence was arraigned on two charges, one for assault upon Bert Hotel, with intent to kill and the other charging assault upon John Holt. After a farewell interview with his mother, Clarence and his uncle left for Rice Lake. Clarence said he would not go to his home at Cameron Dam for several days.

As soon as Sheriff Madden learned that Clarence would be released on bail, he left for Winter to prevent any possible disturbance, if Clarence went to that place. The feeling there is strong against the entire Dietz family since the killing of Oscar Harp.

PROBATE COURT.

Kate Green was arrested, Thursday afternoon, and Albert Osborne was taken in custody, next morning, on affidavits filed against them by Chief Kluefelter in the court of Probate Judge Spencer. They are charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Leona Berridge, aged about sixteen years, by enticing her to the home of the Green woman where the woman and girl kept company with two fellows. Both were arrested on the testimony of the girl. They were arraigned in the probate court, last Friday, and entered pleas of not guilty. The proceedings against the Green woman and Osborne were dismissed Friday afternoon at the suggestion of the prosecuting attorney, because of a lack of evidence against them.

Leona Berridge, aged about sixteen years, was arraigned before Probate Judge Spencer, Friday afternoon, and given a suspended sentence to the girls' industrial home. She was put under probation and sent to the home of her sister at Gallipolis. The girl has been wayward for about two years according to story, but promised the judge to better.

HEAVENS INTERESTING IN MONTH OF OCTOBER

Position of Some of the Stars During Month

LEGEND IN REGARD TO ONE CONSTELLATION

The Groups May Now Be Seen High Above the Pole in the Early Evening—A Couple of Double Stars Which are Worthy of More Than Passing Notice

It is not always among the brightest constellations that the most interesting objects are found. A good example of this is furnished by Cepheus the group which constitutes is shown in our initial letter.

The legendary monarch here commemorated plays like his wife Cassiopeia but a subordinate part in the thrilling story of the rescue of his daughter Andromeda, and appropriately enough the constellation which bears his name though ancient in origin has no conspicuous stars. It is not difficult though to identify it as a zigzag line of stars of the third and fourth magnitude west of the somewhat similar but smaller and brighter group of Cassiopeia and now in the north nearly high above the Pole in the early evening.

Its three brighter stars have a certain interest when it is known that is the celestial pole mark low but steady progress motion move away from the present Polestar, they will one after another take its place as the north Star of millenniums to come. Cepheus having his position about 1 00 A D by Cepheus succeeding to it some 1 00 years later and Cepheus playing his part in the same role for several centuries following the year 7 00. Only the last however will be as near the true pole as our present Polestar is now.

It is of more immediate interest to note that Beta Cephei is a fine double—the components of the third and eighth magnitudes orbiting apparently fixed in relative positions at a distance of thirteen and one half seconds of arc so far as the observations of the last ninety years show.

As, however the fainter star shares the very slow motion of the primary relative to the neighboring stars it is very probable that the two are really of common origin and are in slow motion so slow that it may take centuries of observation to reveal it in a vast orbit whose complete unit must comprise hundreds or even hundreds of thousands of years.

In remarkable contrast to this is the fact brought out by spectroscopic observation that the principal star Delta Cephei has binary in exceedingly rapid revolution a complete circuit of the distance less than five hours which is the most rapid orbital revolution so far known.

A couple of other double stars deserve notice Xi Cephei which lies midway between a and i is a fine pair the yellow primary of the fifth magnitude and the blue companion of magnitude six and one half being seven second apart. Kappa Cephei which is about midway between b Cephei and e Lesser Minoris the second star in the tail of the Little Bear counting from Polaris is also a fine double but the same separation with the primary greenish white and the eighth magnitude companion blue.

All three of these pairs are separable in a small telescope but to separate the close pair which the spectroscope reveals in b Cephei would probably require in instrument several hundred feet in diameter.

The naked eye observer may find in this same constellation an object of great interest the variable star Delta Cephei which has about three degrees from g Cephei in the direction of Cassiopeia. The star is a typical example of a certain class of variables of short period which are now often called the Cepheid variables on this account. Its change in brightness is periodic regular and it is a mute time keeper since the maximum following one another at intervals of five days eight hours forty seven minutes thirty nine and one half seconds like Algol and the similar stars its light changes are continuous without any period of unchanged brightness constant here long, usually more rapid than the fall.

The star and all the similar ones which have been investigated spectroscopically are found to be binary systems whose period is identical with that of the light variation. But in the case the change cannot be due to eclipse of one star of the system by the other as the case with Algol. It is considered an invariable rule that the star appears brightest just when the companion would appear almost at its farthest from it as the other of the principal is while when eclipse might take place provided that the plane of orbit was so inclined that this were possible in that particular happen.

This remarkable behavior is one of the most puzzling of the outstanding problems of astrophysics. Various theories have been advanced to explain it, for example that the star is in which a resisting medium was set up by the advancing star making it bright in front and full expo[sed] behind [illegible] be expected [illegible] Algol [illegible]

Jupiter [illegible] there will [illegible] and [illegible] Delta Cephei [illegible] make[illegible] evening [illegible] number [illegible] of and [illegible] the autumn [illegible] change [illegible] Also the [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE GREAT ACCOUNTING.

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for October 16 Is "The Last Judgment." Matthew 25.31-46.

The logic of many persons today slips a cog when they get to thinking on religion Of real atheism there is almost none, everybody accepts the truth of a Supreme Being, who guides and governs the affairs of men But not everybody sees that this God, if He be Lord at all, must have authority as well as power, anything else is simply unthinkable A sovereign without a kingdom or a sceptre is no real sovereign If God be granted authority then He must—simply must—exercise some sort of discipline and require some sort of accounting of those who are subject to Him

Thus we find ourselves face to face with the reasonableness of a judgment day, although it is not unrommon for people to try to eliminate the judgment day by the simple process of shutting their eyes to it Our befogged minds do not welcome the idea of our responsibility to God—the idea which Daniel Webster said was the sublimest that had ever entered his mind The latest fashions in religion do not call for a judgment day The popular God of the illogical and superficial crowd is a loving, indulgent, easy going spirit, whose character is depicted as the sort of flabby love which these forceless ones know, a being without dignity, rights or authority, the subject of every vagary of these erratic minds The God of a multitude of people is conceived of as possessing no moral sense, except a blind benevolence which will disregard all moral delinquencies, and lavish rewards upon fatuous speculations A man of common sense, with some idea of cause and effect and of the eternal fitness of things, must be repelled by the illogical and debased view of God which is popularly proclaimed today in the name of divine love Well does Lew Wallace say and show, in Ben Hur' that 'better law without love, than love without law'

When the Gentle Eye Flashed

Everybody who reads and thinks accepts Jesus as the most loving example of humanity, or representative of divinity, that this earth has ever seen He loved to the limit 'Greater love hath no man' than His The cross is the seal of His last full measure of devotion Yet Jesus, the self emptying and compassionate, preached a judgment day His lofty words upon the subject are today's Sunday-school lesson His knowledge of God and man made clear the inevitableness of a time when man, the free subject of a divine Sovereign, should one day render up an account to his Lord We can imagine the flash in the eye of the gentle Teacher, as he told His hearers of that day, when all of earth's mistakes would be rectified, and the despised Son of Man, Himself, would be vindicated

The dramatic truth upon the awesomeness of which the old painters loved to dwell is that the judge will be He who is now the judged The suffering Saviour, upon whose case every mortal must sit in judgment as truly as did Pilate, is one day to be enthroned as supreme arbiter of all men The Redeemer who came in humiliation is one day to come in glory 'His day is marching on The Son of Man is also the King of kings He who stood, bleeding and insulted before the multitude, is to have all nations arrayed before Him

The stress which Jesus lays upon the word 'nations" in His statements concerning the grand assize, is significant It seems as God deals with the world in units of nations, as well as of individuals There is something sacred about nationality The feeling of national consciousness is today being intensified to a rare degree all over the earth It is one of the notable phenomena of our times This western world, too is emerging into a new consciousness of her might and mission May she never lack prophets to hold her stedfast to her obligation to the Most High

Each to His Own Place

In childhood's days we ran in crowds, each with his own particular crimes The group instinct intensifies with age, so that cliques' are the problem of high school and colleges Kindred spirits are drawn together one neighborhood has one class of people, another a different class On shipboard, in summer hotels, in restaurants—everywhere, in short, the law of attraction holds good

So it seems but a natural outworking of a recognized principle that at the judgment day the King should declare a separation, each going to his own place Indeed, the separation had already been made sure by the character of the judged it was not the word of the shepherd that made the sheep sheep or the goats goats We go to the group or class for which we have fitted ourselves Even the condemned will recognize the justice of their separation from the Lord, they will see that they, being as they are could not be happy in the company of the blest Ignorant peasants would not enjoy the society of kings and philosophers It is to his own place that each one of us goes Heaven is for the heavenly, condemnation is for the condemnible

Men and women are preparing for their future abode, even as the future abode is preparing for them The kingdom to be inherited by the blessed is prepared for you from the foundation of the world" All things, on earth and in heaven, are making ready for the reign of the good The triumph of truth, the advent of that glorious age of which prophets have dreamed and poets have sung is surely drawing on.

The Great Dividing Line.

Dr Talmage once pointed out that while society divides mankind into many classes by innumerable horizontal lines Jesus divides the world by a single verticle line—on the left the goats on the right the sheep The only important classification in life is that between the good and the bad Upper classes and lower classes are not sufficiently distinctive but good and bad means most to the historian the sociologist, the educator, the preacher the statesman When this line is drawn it runs through all classes, many kings have been on the left and many of earth's poorest and humblest have been on the right The health of the world depends more and more upon making this the one distinction among men In an ideal state the only recognized "good society' would be the society of good people

The test which Jesus says will be applied at the great day is not doctrinal but practical People will be judged by the good they did or left undone He did not name some high and knightly test, but the most ordinary forms of kindness, well within the reach of the lowliest feeding the hungry, giving drink to the thirsty, showing hospitality to the stranger clothing the naked visiting the sick and the prisoner Simple these, but all in the likeness of Christ's ministry

In his luminous little book, The Print of the Nails,' the Rev F H Darlow says The nails of the true cross today are precisely those acts and decisions of ours which transfix our common selfishness Whenever we deny ourselves willingly for the love of others who do not love us, whenever we spend pains and patience to understand those who have no sympathy with us, whenever we give up ease or profit or reputation for the unthankful and the evil, we are beginning to receive these sacred marks of likeness to the crucified The ultimate question which tests our service of others is, 'Does it bear any faint authentic print of the nails'

This lesson is hard to learn We want to substitute other things for the simplicities of Christ's prescription A few weeks ago a New England spinster was witnessing the "Passion Play" at Oberammergau, behind her sat a little boy of seven, who sat wondrously quiet during those eight hours of strain The spinster had book and opera glasses and busied herself without thought of annoyance to the persons behind, and at appropriate places she wept copiously But when she overheard the child whisper occasional questions to his father, or when once he touched the back of her seat, she turned upon him and glared She thought she was in the spirit of the 'Passion Play, but, such is the frailty of human nature, she had no thought of the real Christs Inasmuch, and she was only annoyed by one of the little ones of whom Jesus said "Suffer the little ones to come unto me' The illustration is but one of a myriad that could be piled up to show how we persist in trying to substitute mood of ecstacy or morbid spirituality for the simple kindness which Jesus prescribed The judge will be likely to ask us how we treated our wives and workmen and neighbors, them how fervently we cried Amen' at religious services

The Wonderful "Inasmuch"

The loftiest of motives for the lowliest of services is given by Jesus when he identifies Himself with all who are served or neglected Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these of My children, even these least, ye did it unto Me Inasmuch as ye did it not unto one of these least ye did it not unto Me How those words should set Christian feet speeding towards the homes of want and sorrow and sickness and to the prisons

While the cobbler mused there passed his pane
A beggar drenched by the driving rain,
He called him in from the stony street
And gave him shoes for his bruised feet
The beggar went and there came a crone,
Her face with wrinkles of sorrow sown,
A bundle of fagots bowed her back,
And she was spent with the wrench and rack,
He gave her his loaf and steadied her load
As she took her way on the weary road
Then to his door came a little child
Lost and afraid in the world so wide
In the big, dark world Catching it up,
He gave it the milk in the waiting cup,
And led it home to its mother's arms,
Out of the reach of the world's alarms
The day went down in the crim-on west
And with it the hope of the blessed Guest

And Conrad sighed as the world turned gray
'Why is it Lord, that your feet delay'
Did you forget that this was the day'
Then soft in the silence a Voice he heard
"Lift up your heart, for I kept my word
Three times I came to your friendly door
Three times my shadow was on your floor
I was the beggar with bruised feet,
I was the woman you gave to eat
I was the child on the homeless street

—Edwin Markham

THE PRESIDENTS VIEW

In his recent address at the banquet of the National Republican club it was said by President Taft that in poke not alone to the Republicans of New York but to the country at that party throughout the country

Two of his sentences comprised in complete form the entire substance of the address

A party of this present not a party of radicalism

It is not a party of ultraconservatism

His announcement of approval of progression and his definition of radicalism outline clearly his view of the course which his party should take

He is emphatically a middle of the road Republican and in that he and his administration adhere to that progressive conservative policy of Republicanism they can not fail to command the confidence of the conservative citizens of the country

He did not commit himself to the radicalism of the new nationalism and his failure to vote approval of that new departure in Republican politics under the peculiar circumstances of the address can be construed as unwillingness decided reluctance to abandon the safe and solid ground of constitutional government

The presidents address will be favorably received by the country at large

It should bring strength to the Republican ticket in the state of New York in spite of the unusual and extraordinary disorganization of the party in that state

The address was marked by calm deliberation and a clear conception of what his party should do and should not do

It will strengthen the president and the administration at least until the results of the November elections are made known

They are apt to cause the formulation of political policies to a greater extent than anything that can be said or done before them

After all that party can do and leaders can do with the voters the electors at the polls that they all have to heed and obey Cincinnati Enquirer

HARMON'S BAD MOVE

The governor made the worst move of his life as public official when he took the side of the natural monopolistic public service corporations in the fight over the Wood bill directly to enlighten the people on the controversy With such companies as the Cleveland Leader His error was so gross that he must have decided in some degree the disgust of the stand which he took Otherwise Mr Harmon would not have been so to shift as to say that he could not criticize the Wood bill when the roll call showed that he had not read it and did not know what it was

That statement put the finishing touch on the governor's record in respect to the most effective test of public service corporation control It could have been framed so as to convict Judson Harmon of incredible inadequacy and lack of interest in the most strenuous work of the latter branch of state government of which he is the nominal head But as it was impossible to credit such a confession the alternative was not discreditable Newark American Tribune

RANK IN RATTITUDE

Political history will be searched but searched in vain to find an exact parallel to the crisis in which Judson Harmon is the central figure The Weeds public utilities bill was killed in the interest of the corporations for whom the governor has labored all his life and with whom he in sympathy is one brother is with another With his complete approval the work of butchery was prepared with and he returns after the challenge came had his publicity tour Yet last week Governor Harmon uttered a speech in which he charged that the bill had been killed by the reactionary Republicans To conceive a like inattitude one would have to imagine

That McKinley had been capable of making a reelection attack upon the 50 Democrats who voted for him That Bryan would have turned on the Silver Republicans and the populists who had endorsed him and Whitlock would be driven with them the Democratic and Republican whose support had made it possible

Or a non partisan candidacy when they can such attack for different dishonesty that now menace not dishonor public with the name Toledo Blade

DAVID WASHAM GIVEN HEARING BY MAYOR

Found Guilty of Violating the Rose Liquor Law.

HEARING OCCUPIES ENTIRE AFTERNOON

Washam Is Fined $150 and Costs, but Execution of Judgment Is Suspended Pending the Filing of a Bill of Exceptions—Some Local Police Court News Notes.

The entire afternoon in the mayor's court, Monday, was occupied in hearing the case against David Washam, charged with keeping a place where intoxicating liquors were sold from September 25 until October 7. Washam was arrested, the evening of October 7, as the result of a search being made at his place and a search of his person, which resulted in two bottles of whisky being found in his pockets.

The prosecution was represented by City Solicitor E. T. Boyd and Attorney J. W. Thompson and the defendant by Attorney L. E. Myers. Wells Cusick, Shrock, Jones and Powell were called to testify for the prosecution, the testimony of the officers making the arrest being that they visited Washam's place and made a search, but found nothing. They stated that they then placed Washam under arrest and on searching his person found two bottles of whisky. The testimony of Powell was to the effect that Washam had requested him not to visit his place so frequently.

Attorney Myers objected to nearly all of the evidence introduced. His objections were overruled. Ben Hoseworth, Z. F. Drake and the defendant were the witnesses for the defense. The testimony of Hoseworth and Washam was that the whisky was purchased in Bucyrus the day previous and that the owners intended to take it on a hunting trip. This was sustained by Drake's testimony.

At the conclusion of the testimony the attorney for the defendant filed a motion for dismissal. The motion was overruled. Following the arguments of the attorneys, the mayor returned a verdict of guilty and fined Washam $150 and costs. Execution of judgment was suspended pending the filing of a bill of exceptions to carry the case to the common pleas court.

Shortly before 12 o'clock, Saturday night, Officers Jones, McColley and Powell were called to the home of J. A. Haberman, of Silver street, by a report that an attempt had been made to burglarize the house. Noah Miller, who rooms at the Haberman home, was sitting in his room reading a paper when he heard a noise in the hall. He at first thought that it was another roomer, but as the noise suddenly ceased, Miller opened the door of his room to investigate and saw a man run down the stairs.

Revolver in hand, Miller started after the fellow, who ran out the door onto the back porch. He was grabbed by two fellows, and in the scuffle which followed he dropped his revolver. The two fellows ran to the alley and Miller finding his gun fired several times at them, the fleeing men returning three shots. Miller was unable to give the officers a description of the men and the officers were unable to accomplish anything in the case.

COLUMBUS DAY WILL BE OBSERVED IN THIRTEEN STATES

Washington, Oct. 7.—Thirteen states have declared October 12 a legal holiday, and the citizens of these divisions of the nation will honor the memory of Christopher Columbus in various ways. It has been largely through the efforts of the Knights of Columbus, an organization of Catholic laymen, that so many states have enacted laws giving the people a holiday. It was Colorado that took the lead in the matter. On April 1, 1907, both branches of its legislature passed a resolution "setting aside the 12th day of October each year as a public holiday, to be known as Columbus day." The governor, who was heartily in favor of the measure, signed it immediately, and the bill became a law. Other states that have made Columbus day a legal holiday are California, Connecticut, Illinois, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Montana, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. It will doubtless surprise many to know that there are no less than twenty-nine statues and monuments to Columbus in America. There are six in Spain and seven in Italy. What is believed to be the first Columbus shaft erected in the United States is that in Baltimore. It is a hundred years old. There is a fine bust of Columbus in the White House at Washington.

THE EXHIBITORS CAN NOW GET PREMIUMS

Agricultural Board Is Pleased with Showing.

That the recent Marion county fair was a success financially and in every other way is shown by the $3,500 in premiums now ready for distribution among the exhibitors. This is the largest amount ever paid out in premiums by the Marion agricultural board and the members of the board feel highly gratified in showing a balance of $800 in the treasury over that of 1909.

At a meeting of the board held in the office of Secretary J. A. Knapp, Saturday afternoon, business pertaining to the fair was transacted and the premiums were prepared for distribution. It was decided to pay for the improvements to the grounds out of the fair receipts rather than out of the county funds. The amount to be paid for repairs this year will reach $1,000.

GEORGE GEISER IN JUSTICE'S COURT

Is Arrested by Constable Ullom Last Saturday.

On an affidavit filed in the court of Justice Charles H. Conley, Saturday, by Carl A. Weller, George Geiser was arrested by Constable James Ullom, that afternoon, on a charge of boarding up the doors in a house belonging to Weller and damaging the building to the extent of two dollars. The house is located on north Grand avenue. There are four apartments in the dwelling and it appears that Geiser persisted in boarding up the doors to some of the apartments. In the total the damage to the house is estimated at about $60.

When arraigned, Saturday afternoon, Geiser plead not guilty and was bound over to the grand jury.

FORMER MARION GIRL MARRIED MONDAY

Miss Ethel Uncapher Married to Mr. Ray E. Cope.

At the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther V. Uncapher, at Kansas City, Monday evening at 7 o'clock, Miss Ethel Uncapher, formerly of this city and a graduate of the Marion High school, was united in marriage to Mr. Ray Earnest Cope, a prominent young man of Kansas City. Invitations had been received by the relatives in this city and some of the relatives here were in attendance at the wedding ceremony.

TYPHOID FEVER IS CAUSE OF DEATH

Elmer T. Edsell Dies at Home in East Marion.

Elmer Thornton, son of Mrs. Frank Edsell, of Lincoln avenue died at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. M. Gill, of north Grand avenue, with whom he has always made his home. The youth became ill of typhoid fever over two weeks ago and bravely fought to overcome the disease, but death conquered. His death is doubly sad for the bereaved family because of the serious illness in the same home of his aunt, Miss Nellie Gill, who lies very ill of the same disease.

The lad had he lived until Monday, would have celebrated his sixteenth birthday. He was a bright lad and made friends where ever he went. Since January, he had been employed in the carpet department of Warner & Edwards company's store. He was a member of the Y. M. C. A. and a boy of splendid qualities.

The deceased leaves beside his mother and stepfather, eight brothers and sisters, a number of relatives and many friends to mourn their loss.

On account of the condition of Miss Gill she was not told of the death of her nephew, and the remains were taken to the Schaffner morgue, Friday evening, where short services were held next afternoon, Rev. D. H. Bailey officiating. The remains were laid to rest in the Marion cemetery.

AN AGED RESIDENT DIES FRIDAY MORNING

Mrs. John Hoberman Is Claimed by Death.

Mrs. Catherine Hoberman, widow of the late John Hoberman, died at the home of her son, W. H. Hoberman, of No. 103 north Main street, Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock of old age. She had been ill for the past year.

Mrs. Hoberman was born in Germany about eighty-three years ago, and came to this country when about sixteen years of age. In young womanhood, she was married to Mr. Hoberman in this city, and to this union were born nine children, two of whom, W. H. Hoberman and Mrs. J. G. Mitchell, of Ashtabula, survive. Mr. Hoberman died about twenty-one years ago.

The deceased was a good Christian woman and a faithful member of the Emanuel Lutheran church.

The funeral was held Monday.

GROUND BROKEN FOR STEAM SHOVEL PLANT

Work of Grading Is Begun Last Friday Morning.

BUILDING CONTRACT WILL BE LET QUICKLY

Four Large Buildings Are To Be Erected and Must Be Ready for Occupancy in February—Plant Will Have a Capacity of Ten Machines a Month—Plans.

The Marion Shovel & Dredge company, which owns 125 acres in the southwest part of the city, a tract lying between the Hocking Valley and Pennsylvania railway tracks to the south of Bellefontaine avenue on which it will erect its shops, will let the building contracts quickly. The company put a force of men and teams to work, Friday of last week, clearing and grading the site for the shops.

The company has office quarters on Center street opposite Hotel Marion, and the management is busy with the details preliminary to building.

Under the provisions of the contract for building the work of construction must be rushed vigorously and the plant must be ready for operation early in February.

The plant will consist of four large buildings which will be fully equipped for the manufacture of steam shovels, dredges, ballast unloaders and other machinery of like character. The main structure, which will be used for erecting purposes and a machine shop, will be 210x120 feet in its dimensions. Into this building three tracks will be projected, the tracks being connected with the Hocking Valley and Pennsylvania lines. The other departments will be housed for the present in three buildings, one covering an area of 60x210 feet, another 60x112 feet and the third 60x100 feet.

The shop capacity will be equal to the building of ten machines a month and the employment of from 300 to 500 men.

The company will do all of its grading and will lay its own tracks within its grounds.

In connection with the progress of the company, the management stated, Friday morning, that a greater part of the stock has been subscribed, but the matter of selling stock has been shelved in a measure, while attention has been turned largely to preparing the specifications for buildings and getting the work under contract. The books for stock subscriptions are, however, open at the office of the company and it is expected that all stock will be taken in a very short time.

PRETTY WEDDING AT A LOCAL HOSPITAL

Miss Irene C. Curtis and Mr. Clifton Lower Married.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the Marion City hospital on Blaine avenue, last Friday at 9 o'clock, when Miss Irene Cutler Curtis, the head nurse at the hospital and Mr. Clifford Lower, son of Dr. H. J. Lower, the owner of the institution, were united in marriage, Rev. H. V. McCleary, pastor of the Wesley M. E. church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a small company of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

The ceremony uniting the young people was simple but impressive. The rooms at the hospital were appropriately decorated for the occasion.

Following the ceremony the young people left for a wedding trip to points in the southern part of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Lower are well known in this city. The bride although coming here but recently, has a wide circle of friendships. The groom is one of the proprietors of the Gem pharmacy and enjoys a wide acquaintance.

COUNTY RECORDER MAKES A REPORT

Receipts of the Office are More Than the Expenses.

County Recorder E. F. Tittelbaugh has completed his report for the year ending the first Monday in September. The fees of the office more than covered the salaries of the recorder and clerks. The salaries of the office amount to $2,893.27 as compared with $3,073.73 for the year previous. The fees earned in the office this year amounted to $2,949.37 compared with $3,504.12 last year.

Wants a Divorce.

Through her attorneys Mouser & Moloney, Mary M. Landes filed a divorce petition in the common pleas court, last Saturday, from her husband, Harley I. Landes. She sets up that they were married April 29, 1905, and that one child, Robert M., aged one year, is a result of the union. She alleges that the defendant has been guilty of gross neglect and extreme cruelty in refusing to provide a home for her and furnish the necessaries of life. Also that he has been guilty of profanity and associated with indecent women.

DEATH COMES AFTER VERY SHORT ILLNESS

Mrs. Mary Cruikshank Dies Tuesday Morning.

Mrs. Mary Cruikshank, widow of the late S. L. Cruikshank, who died fifteen months ago, died at her home at No. 339 Windsor street, Tuesday morning at 3 o'clock. Her death was caused by an attack of neuralgia, of which she had suffered since Saturday. Since the death of her husband, she had been an invalid, not having been able to leave her home at any time.

Mrs. Cruikshank was born in London, England, and came to this county with her mother, Mrs. Jane Curtis, when but three years of age. Had she lived until March she would have been seventy-seven years of age. Her maiden name was Mary Woodland and she was united in marriage to Mr. Cruikshank at her home in Delaware, December 4, 1856. She was the mother of twelve children, seven of whom are living. They are Mrs. Rose V. Johnston, who resided with her mother; Mrs. Jennie McElheney, of McComb; T. E. Cruikshank, of Evart, Michigan; G. O. Cruikshank, of Leipsic; J. L. Cruikshank, of Fostoria; H. S. Cruikshank, of Mt. Gilead, and F. A. Cruikshank, of Sears, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Cruikshank came to Marion five years ago and had since then resided on Windsor street. The deceased was a faithful member of the Wesley M. E. church and a good Christian woman.

The funeral was held from the late residence, Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. H. V. McCleary officiating. The remains were taken to Delaware on the 1:20 o'clock Hocking Valley train and interred in the Liberty cemetery near Delaware.

POLICE INVESTIGATE RUMOR OF MURDER

Man Supposed To Have Been Shot in a Melee.

As the result of a rumor that a murder had been committed in the residence district of some Italians, north of the Pennsylvania tracks, on Main street, last Thursday, Chief Klinefelter, Captain Bond, Sheriff Stark and Deputy Sheriff Breen made a trip to the vicinity of the supposed crime Monday afternoon with a view to unearthing the mystery.

A visitor in the vicinity stated to the chief that he had been informed that some shooting had been done by the foreigners, Thursday night, and that one of them was carried into a house dead and covered with blood. On investigation it developed that the foreigners were drinking, and that the man carried into the house was dead drunk. No one was hit in the shooting and the blood seen was from a cut one of the foreigners sustained by a knife in the hands of another foreigner. The names of the men mixed in the trouble could not be learned, some having left the city.

William H. Cope, who was badly injured in the shops of the Marion Steam Shovel company, recently, was able to go to his home from the hospital, Tuesday.

QUIET IS RESTORED IN PORTUGAL; KING MANUEL WHO HAS FLED

SIXTY-TWO LOTS IN ST. ANDREW'S BAY

Owner Buys Them of Late Guy Webber Years Ago.

THE LOTS ARE NOW OF CONSIDERABLE VALUE

William Stansberry Sells the Luna Theater and Surprises a Reporter With a Story That Recalls the Financial Exploits of a Former Marion Resident.

William Stansberry, who has been managing the Luna electric theater on south Main street for the last year or such a matter, has disposed of his place of amusement to Hubert Delvenne, of Tiffin, who took charge last Saturday.

Mr. Delvenne will conduct Luna along the same lines which have been followed by his predecessor. His coming will be appreciated by the members of local organizations, as he is an exceptionally fine trombone player. It is said that he will become a member of Baker's band.

When asked by the Star what he proposed to do, the reporter received a shock which almost took him off his feet.

"I'm going down to Florida," Stansberry replied. "Twenty-six years ago I bought sixty-two lots in St. Andrew's Bay from Guy Webber. I have kept the taxes paid on them and they have become valuable. St. Andrew's Bay was considerd a joke by some and a swindle by others, but I always had faith. It has the finest harbor along the southern coast. It is landlocked, of clay bottom, making a good anchorage, and is eighty feet deep. The government has appropriated $600,000 to cut a channel through the bar to this harbor, and as soon as that is done it will be the finest harbor on the coast. As the harbor at Pensacola is a poor one, it is probable that the government will move the Pensacola navy yard to the bay. I'll live down there during the winter, and have already planned a house and bought 100 acres of land nearby which I will plant in fruit. In the winter I will come north and run an aerodrome, which I will locate in some Ohio town. I have not yet decided just what town I will go to as yet."

"Is this straight?" the reporter asked, when he had sufficiently recovered from the idea of St. Andrew's Bay having developed to actual worth.

"Absolutely," was the answer.

Then the reporter wondered how his late fellow-townsman, Mr. Webber, would have taken the news had he been here in life.

The Fortnightly club will meet with Mrs. Walter Sloan, in the Hood flats on east Center street, Friday afternoon.

WEATHER BUREAU CHIEF FACES THE CHARGES OF CLERK

Washington, Oct. 10.—Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau, is again under fire. The charges are made by James Berry, a division chief of the bureau for seventeen years. One of the counts that Mr. Berry makes against Mr Moore is that he has pursued and is now pursuing a policy of withholding forecasts of the weather bureau for the deliberate purpose of creating complaints, then blaming congress for not granting additional appropriations. Mr. Berry says that the chief has reduced the number of places receiving the forecasts and special warnings of the bureau by 100, making the total the smallest since the year 1905-6, notwithstanding there has been no diminution in the amount of money appropriated for this important work. Mr Berry threatens to bring all of the facts in his possession to the attention of congress and to demand an investigation. He asserts that no committe of congress can afford to overlook the information which he will lay before it concerning the management of the bureau. He asserts that Mr. Moore holds tyrannical sway over the bureau and manipulates the government business to suit his own whims rather than the needs of the public.

MRS. GUY M'DONALD SUES FOR A DIVORCE

Domestic Relations Are Found Very Disagreeable.

ONE CHILD IS THE RESULT OF UNION

Plaintiff Charges that the Defendant Is Guilty of Desertion and Fails To Contribute to Her Support—Judge Scofield Reserves Decision in the Massie Matter—Court Notes.

Fannie E. McDonald against Guy McDonald is the title of a petition for a divorce filed in the common pleas court, Tuesday, by Mouser & Moloney, attorneys for Fannie E. McDonald.

The petition sets up that the parties to the suit were married, February 14, 1906, and as a result of the union one child has been born; that their married life has been disagreeable and their domestic relations extremely unsatisfactory and unbearbale; that the defendant left the plaintiff at the home of her parents in Prospect and has since been a non-resident of the state and has not done anything in the way of contributing to her support. She asks for a divorce, custody of the child and reasonable alimony.

Judge Scofield, Tuesday morning, reserved his decision in the William Massie case to next Monday.

Eight demurrers to the amended petition of the Marion Steam Shovel company, plaintiff, in the action against the Marion Shovel & Dredge company and others, were filed in the common pleas court, Saturday, by Copeland & Bartram, attorneys for the defendant company and others. The demurrers set up that the amended petition does not state sufficient facts to constitute a cause of action and ask that the petition be dismissed, and that the defendants be granted the costs and proper relief. The demurrers were filed by the Marion Shovel & Dredge company, John D. Owens, David W. Evans, Clifford A. Owens, Arthur E. Cheney, Harry J. Barnhart, George D. Copeland and George B. Christian, Jr.

OFFICIAL REPORT AS TO CROP CONDITIONS

The Report Covers Crops of Entire State.

SOME FIGURES ON THE WHEAT PRODUCTION

The Outlook for Wheat Next Year Is Very Encouraging—The Corn Prospect is Eighty-One Per Cent. of a Normal Yield—Potato Crop Is Not So Good—Other Crops.

The following report is computed from returns received from the official correspondents of the department of agriculture of the state for October 1:

Wheat—Estimated area harvested, 1,942,599 acres; product an acre, 16 bushels; total estimated product for 1910, 31,229,206 bushage, 93 per cent; crop of 1909 still in producers' hands, 7 per cent.

Oats—Area as returned by county assessors, 1,411,957 acres; product an acre, 38 bushels; total estimated product for 1910, 54,094,054 bushels; quality compared with an average, 100 per cent.

Barley—Fall and spring, area as returned by township assessors, 16,932 acres; produce an acre, 27 bushels; total estimated product for 1910, 461,165 bushels; quality compared with an average, 94 per cent.

Rye—Area as returned by township assessors, 64,336 acres; product an acre, 15 bushels; total estimated product for 1910, 995,239 bushels; quality compared with an average, 94 per cent.

Corn—Prospect compared with normal yield, 81 per cent.; cut up for fodder, 76 per cent.; average date for fodder cutting, September 25.

Potatoes—Probable total yield compared with an average, 70 per cent.

Tobacco — Prospect compared with an average, 75 per cent.

Pastures — Condition compared with an average, 84 per cent.

Apples—Prospect compared with an average, 62 per cent.

Figures on Wheat.

The figures on wheat production this month, based on the acreage as returned by the township assessors, show a large increase over the estimated area as reported by the official correspondents of the department, hence the total production in bushels is much greater than was anticipated in previous reports. The assessors' returns show that 1,984,895 acres were originally seeded to wheat, and deducting from this the area abandoned there remained 1,942,599 acres to be harvested. Correspondents estimate that the average yield an acre was sixteen bushels, a total production for the state as a whole of 31,229,206 bushels. The production last year was 27,393,344 bushels. The quality of the grain is estimated at ninety-three per cent., compared with an average, as against eighty-seven per cent. last year. The average production an acre is approximately the same as the harvest of 1909. Of last year's crop it is estimated that but seven per cent. still remains in producers' hands. The break in the long drouth put the ground in fine condition for seeding, and where early sown the plant shows a thriving condition. Much of the present corn ground will be put to wheat, and as that crop is late in maturing, seeding has necessarily been retarded.

The area of oats as reported by township assessors was 1,441,957 acres, and from this has been produced 54,094,054 bushels, an average of thirty-eight bushels an acre. This is an increase of approximately 5,000,000 bushels over last year's harvest. Quality of the grain is up to full average, 100 per cent.

Barley shows an estimated production of 461,165 bushels, while it is estimated 995,239 bushels of rye were harvested.

The Corn Prospect.

The corn prospect is estimated at eighty-one per cent. of a normal yield, based upon thirty-five bushels an acre as normal, represented by 100 per cent. The area planted to corn, as estimated by the township assesors, was 3,074,292 acres, and from present prospect it should produce 87,156,178 bushels. Even though the crop should husk out much better than now anticipated it will fall far short of the crop of one year ago. At proper planting season, cool, wet weather prevailed, and the greater area was planted late. During the month of June the plant made rapid growth, but severe drouth followed the succeeding months, and its effect is now apparent in the poor prospect reported.

The probable yield of potatoes is estimated at but seventy per cent. compared with an average. On the corresponding date last year the prospect was reported at eighty-nine per cent.

The tobacco prospect also shows a material decline in comparison with last year. It is reported at seventy-five per cent. of an average as against ninety-seven per cent. in 1909.

The apple prospect is estimated at sixty-two per cent. compared with an average.

Late rains have greatly benefited pactures.

The Procession of the Holy Sacrament at Lourdes

Bernadette Soubirous Recipient of the Apparition Francois Domenech at Lourdes

Nestled in the most picturesque valley in the Pyrenees mountains in the very shadow of the Pic du Jer lies Lourdes the most famous religious shrine in the world. Here at its single grotto on the banks of the river Gave every year thousands of faithful Catholics from each country in the world assemble to offer their prayers before the Virgin. Here the lame, the halt and the blind come to bathe in the waters which tradition and fable tell us they believe will restore to them health, whether that health be of the body or the soul. Given up by medical science as incurable they come here to regain vigor and restore their lost health.

All the scenes at Lourdes are always solemn and impressive, those which occur daily, what is known as the National Pilgrimage, beggar description for at this time united scenes which cannot be duplicated in any other part of the world. The pilgrims are mainly French people, hundreds of whom come from Paris. All during the year money is saved by relatives and friends for the sick people to pay for the journey and to buy what little extra comforts that will be required on the way. A sum is set aside by the Catholic Churches for those who are too poor to pay at all. Rich French Catholics of both sexes offer their services as nurses for the white train, as the one leaving the sick is known. The generous rich and women of the latter class frequently mem bers of the French nobility and their well to do often of the most obnoxious duties for the sake of charging the linen of a precious patient or caring for a child covered with sores is no pleasant task even to those hospitallers as they are known. Helpfulness and none of the sick is ever neglected. Food enough to last India, the journey is usually carried out in eight or ten days requires by slow railroad hours. There is little sleep for the train is made up of third class cars. People suffering from lung trouble they come here to breathe the Virgin restore their lost health.

MISS AMELIA HAZEN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Takes Carbolic Acid in the Crystal Form

DESPONDENT OVER CONTENTS OF A NOTE

Miss Hazen Is Found in an Unconscious Condition and Is Given Prompt Attention—She Recovers Consciousness and Is Now Out of Danger to all Appearances

Miss Amelia Hazen the sixteen year old daughter of Mr Mary Hazen of Chester street attempted suicide at her home between 8 and 9 o clock Monday evening by taking a quantity of carbolic acid in crystalized form

During the afternoon Miss Hazen received a note from a fellow who is employed at the Arlington restaurant on north Main street In the note Mr Cornell who had been keeping company with the young woman stated that he had decided to discontinue his attentions to her After receiving the letter the girl told her mother that she was going out to telephone to the young man but instead it is supposed that she left to purchase the drug a pound of which in a crystalized form was found outside of the kitchen door where it is supposed she had thrown it after taking a small quantity

After the girl returned home she went to the kitchen to take a bath and later went to her room where she was found unconscious about 8 o clock Dr H F Lower was immediately summoned and gave the girl the necessary attention When he left the house she was still unconscious

At 2 o clock Tuesday morning Dr H F Taylor was called and when he arrived he found her pulse very weak and the girl apparently in a dying condition he states When Dr Taylor called again at 6 o clock that morning the girl was asleep and resting easily she having regained consciousness about 4 o clock Miss Hazen was not burned about the mouth but the odor of her breath indicated that she had taken a portion of the acid Tuesday morning after a spell of vomiting she seemed to recover and is now apparently out of danger

FOREST FLAMES UNDER CONTROL

Injured Are Being Cared for in Minnesota.

DEAD ARE BEING BURIED IN TRENCHES

Many of the Bodies Are Not Identified.

Martial Law Is Proclaimed in a Dozen Different Points in Fire District and Orders Are Issued to Troops To Shoot Any One Caught Looting—Hundreds of Cattle Perish in Fires—Water Contaminated.

THE FOREST FIRE SITUATION TO DATE

- Towns and settlements burned, ten.
- Towns still threatened, nine.
- Estimated dead, 150.
- Identified dead, sixty.
- Homeless, 8,000, estimated.
- Property loss, $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.
- Additional companies of state militia asked for to assist in fighting flames, should they again spring up, and protect refugees from vandals.
- Martial law declared at many points. Orders issued to shoot looters on sight.
- Stench from bodies of animals threatening epidemic.
- Water contaminated.
- Train loads of provisions and clothing arriving in stricken district
- Shacks being built in burned towns to house refugees.
- Governor Eberhardt, of Minnesota, takes personal charge of relief work.

Bury the Dead.

International Falls, Minn., Oct. 12.—With the forest fires between International Falls and Beaudette under control, citizens and militiamen, under the command of General Wood, of the Minnesota National guard, gave their entire attention, today, to distributing supplies and attending the injured among the thousands of refugees of the fire-swept zone.

Although the fires are under control, the danger has not entirely passed and General Wood, today, requested that additional troops be sent to aid the lumbermen in fighting the fires should they show renewed activity and protect the refugees from vandals that are at work.

Lumbermen, today, brought in many bodies from the wooded districts on wagons, but it is not believed the total death roll will run over the estimate of 150 made yesterday. At Beaudette thirty-seven persons burned to death. Seventeen were buried, today, in a long trench outside of the town. The bodies were mere masses of charred flesh and many were unidentified.

Nine more towns reported here, today, that they were threatened by fires and asked that men be held in readiness to rush to their aid.

Poposky, Nebish and Kelliher reported that they had been fighting the fires for several days and during the last twenty-four hours the conditions have become alarming. All business was suspended at Kelliher and every able-bodied citizen ordered to the fire lines. Twenty men were sent to Kelliher from Bemidji and seventy-five militiamen were sent from the relief train to Nebish and Poposky when the train arrived in the district. At Black Duck and Funkley the flames were reported to be only two miles away and men were rushed to these points. There is little wind, today, and these towns will probably escape unless the wind increases. Longworth, Clear River, Cedar Bend and Richwood are also threatened.

Martial Law.

Martial law has been proclaimed at a dozen different points in the fire district and orders issued to shoot any one caught looting.

At Beaudette, today, 100 men were detailed to bury the hundreds of cattle and other livestock which perished in the fires. The stench from the carcasses is terrible and it is feared an epidemic may break out unless the masses of decaying flesh are removed. The water about Beaudette and Spooner is so contaminated that physicians have ordered that only water shipped from Rainy River be used by the refugees. Most of the typhoid fever patients in the hospital at Beaudette when the fire broke out have been taken across the border to Canadian towns.

Conditions at Warroad are much improved. Food, clothing and medical supplies are pouring into the stricken district hourly and at Beaudette carpenters arrived, today, and started erecting rough shacks to shelter the refugees. A call has been sent out for hundreds of carpenters to report at the stricken towns to start the work of reconstruction. Spooner and Beaudette will be rebuilt as one town.

As the late reports came in, today, indicating that the number of dead had at first been overestimated, it was evident that the loss in property would reach higher figures.

Lumbermen, today, were unable to state the exact figures that might represent their loss, but said that with private property destroyed in the towns, a conservative estimate of the entire loss would be between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

Governor Eberhardt announced, this morning, that the state authorities and national guard surgeons would take charge of the sanitary conditions in the fire district.

Ranchers in Panic.

Carters Lake, Col., Oct. 12.—It is not believed, today, that any lives have been lost as the result of the forest fire on Big Chief mountain where twenty square miles of valuable timber have been laid waste within twenty-four hours. M. D. McEnIry, chief of the field division of the general land office, today rushed 100 men to the scene. The flames threaten to also devastate Coal Creek canon.

Ranchers living near the scene of the fire are in a state of panic and many are fleeing to nearby towns. The mountain, with its numerous precipitous trails, was a mystery to the fire fighters and they enlisted the services of Miss Alice Carter, of Denver, a girl of sixteen, who lived in this vicinity and knows all the trails. She led the fire fighters up a tortuous path from Miramont to the base of the mountain.

McEnIry, today, decided to ask Governor Shafroth for 100 additional men.

SEARCH FOR LUNATIC IS SUDDENLY SHIFTED

Ohio Man Gives Clew to the Government Officers.

Washington, Oct 13.—The search for George Bramley, life term murderer and dangerous lunatic, was suddenly shifted, yesterday, from this city to Chicago by the government officers as the result of a statement given the authorities by Judge S. S. Yoder, former representative from Ohio:

"I saw that man on the Pittsburg, Akron & Chicago limited, Saturday," said Yoder. "I was called to give him medical attention. He told me of his service in the Philippines as a soldier and said he had been in the government asylum at Washington.

Bramley killed Corporal Fox in the Philippines, attacked a guard with a knife at Leavenworth prison and assaulted a guard here, Saturday, when he made his escape.

LETTERS TELL OF DYNAMITING

Alleged Suspect Held in Los Angeles.

GEORGE WALLACE IS IN TOILS AGAIN

Is Captured in Sacramento Postoffice.

Wallace Is Caught While Engaged in Attempt To Destroy Correspondence with a Miner Friend. Detectives Paste Fragments Together and Believe They Have Important Clew.

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 12. George Wallace was arrested by detectives on suspicion of complicity in dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building, which cost 21 lives. Wallace was arrested as he was receiving mail at the Sacramento postoffice.

The detectives say letters he received connect him with the dynamiting conspiracy. Wallace is a miner and familiar with high-power explosives. He is a late arrival in Sacramento from San Francisco and Los Angeles. He will be held in jail pending advices from Los Angeles.

For several days Chief of Police Ahearn has had detectives and patrolmen on special duty stationed at the postoffice watching for Wallace, in hopes he would appear and ask for letters, and it was upon his appearance there that he was arrested The arrest was made as Wallace was endeavoring to destroy two letters he had received. It is upon the contents of one of these letters that Ahearn rests his faith that he has made a valuable catch

Pieced Fragments Together.

Pieced together, the letters show Wallace left Los Angeles suddenly on the day following the dynamiting, and knows much regarding the inside of the affair. The writer composed his letter guardedly, but used bitter language in speaking of General Manager Chandler of the Times and Harrison Gray Otis. That Wallace was arrested in Los Angeles after the Times building was blown up is made clear in the letter, for it is stated Wallace's friend was surprised when he learned that Wallace told the chief of police he was a native of Glasgow.

Reference is made to the activity of detectives. The author of the letter says he was held up several times and searched for firearms while walking on the streets, and that the police are a lot of vultures. Then there is a sentence which clearly indicates that Wallace's friend has information which he dare not trust to letter. It is: "If I could only see you, George, I could tell you a whole lot of things, but one can not be too careful what he writes in a letter." The other letter refers to dynamiting, but is guarded in tone.

When arrested Wallace nearly collapsed. He did not offer resistance, but turned suddenly pale and trembled violently After he had been taken to the police station and questioned his condition became worse, although he retained his self-control sufficiently to answer questions without tangling himself. He made a general denial of all connection with the Los Angeles crime. Wallace told Ahearn that he is a native of Sydney, Australia, and that he had been employed at Los Angeles as a gardener. It is known his friend who wrote the letters is a miner from El Dorado county.

FATE OF MAYOR OF ZANESVILLE

Charges Are Placed with Governor Harmon Today.

Columbus, O., Oct 13 The fate of Mayor A H Gorrell, of Zanesville, whom the "drys" of that city are trying to oust from office, now rests with Governor Harmon A petition for Gorrell's removal, backed by fourteen different charges of misconduct in office and supported by more than a hundred affidavits, were officially filed with the governor's secretary, George S Lung, today, by Rev P M Ross and William J Mason representatives of the Zanesville Civic League

The charges against Gorrell were framed early in July and were brought to the governor's office, July 20, by Rev Mr Ross Governor Harmon was in Michigan at the time, so Ross left the papers with Long with the request that they be not filed until he, Ross, gave the word Nothing was heard from Ross until he appeared today, and notified Long he was ready for the charges to go to the governor.

NEXT MESSAGE OF PRESIDENT

Taft Will Keep Legislative Mill Busy.

LONG LIST OF NEW STATUTES

Now Being Prepared by the President.

Great Progress Will Be Reported by the Message in the Work on the Panama Canal and Its Immediate Fortification Will Be Recommended—Other Measures To Be Presented by Taft.

THE FEATURES OF NEXT MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

- Development of water power sites.
- Federal charters for corporations.
- Railroad rate agreements.
- Canal fortification
- Relief merchant marine.
- Extension civil service.
- Economy and efficiency.
- Work of tariff board.

Prepares Long List.

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 12.—President Taft gives promise of delivering to congress in his annual message, an abundant grist for the legislative mill. It was learned today that the president will call for a long list of new statutes.

Efforts made to promote the economical administration of the government's business will be emphasized in the message.

The message will recommend that congress pass a law that will permit development of water power on public land by private capital, but that the government shall keep a restraining hand on the concessions in order to prevent extortion or monopoly.

Another hard conservation problem concerns the disposition to be made of the stores of coal, oil and phosphates on public lands.

Congress disposed of one phase of the coal question, but the disposition of the Alaska coal deposits and other problems remain.

Two propositions that have heretofore been strongly urged upon congress by the president will be repeated in the message—an amendment of the Sherman anti-trust law and federal charters for corporations.

What Taft Believes.

The proposed amendment to the Sherman law would permit railroads to enter into limited agreements as to rates, subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce commission.

Taft believes that the granting of federal charters to large corporations would give the government direct control

Great progress will be reported by the message in the work on the Panama canal, and its immediate fortification will be recommended

Congress will be urged to adopt some measure for the improvement of the dwindling merchant marine.

Senators and representatives will be asked to consider the question of surrendering their privilege of making certain appointments in order that more government employes may be placed on the civil service roll.

Other suggestions in all probability will include a new form of government for Alaska, strengthening of the anti-trust laws a law governing the issuing of injunctions without notice and currency reform.

EX-GOVERNOR OF KANSAS IS DEAD

William E. Stanley Is Born in Knox County, Ohio.

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 13.—William Eugene Stanley, the fifteenth governor of Kansas whose election in 1898 signalized the retrograding of Populism in the Sunflower state, died at his home here, early today, following an illness of several months with acute indigestion.

Ex-Governor Stanley was born in Knox county Ohio, December 28, 1844 He was a law graduate of Ohio Wesleyan He served two terms as governor of Kansas, defeating John W Leedy, the Populist governor, in the election of 1898

Stanley was a Republican.

HARDING URGES DEEPEST PROBE

Requests Denman To Go to Work at Once.

CANDIDATE HARDING SEEKS THE TRUTH

Of Charges Made by the Chief Engineer.

Mr. Harding Declares to Large Audience at Toledo That Grafters Should Be Punished Regardless of Who They Are—Regrets That the Governor Doesn't Act on Matter Many Months Ago.

Toledo, O., Oct. 12.—Answering Governor Harmon's expose of alleged canal graft, yesterday, Warren G. Harding last night announced to a large audience in the Auditorium that, at his request, Attorney General Denman had canceled his speaking engagements to go to Columbus and direct the probe. The Marker charges, Harding said, did not appear to involve other than employes of the board of public works, but he spoke for a searching investigation that would disclose possible grafters higher up or effectually clear them of the stigma of suspicion. While, Harding said, the charges themselves seemed to be considerably tinged with politics, he declared they were too serious to be made the vehicle for any man's political ambition.

As he viewed the situation, it was not only the duty of the board and the attorney general, but of Governor Harmon, to at once unite in an investigation that would leave no room for any doubt or suspicion in the mind of many as to its sincerity.

Attorney General Denman supplemented Harding's address with the announcement that he would leave for Columbus, early today, and abandon his part of the campaign.

"I am going on this new job," he said, "and stay on it until it is finished. The probe shall start at once and go clear to the bottom. Governor Harmon should, and doubtless will, give us the advantage of all the information he has secured through his corps of private detectives. And there shall be no faltering in punishing such grafters as may be discovered, whoever they may be.

Says Harmon Delayed.

"You may have read of reputed graft in our poor, broken-down and neglected old canal system," Harding said! "The reports may be true. One hesitates to hurry to conclusions on revelations seemingly made for campaign purposes. It is petty graft and thievery, if true, and thoroughly despicable, and the state ought to be ridded of it. I can only regret that Governor Harmon did not render this duty to the state a year ago. Eighteen months ago the general assembly provided for a canal probe, authorized a commission to be named by the governor for that purpose, to serve with him, but he ignored the naming of a commission and delayed the pursuit of canal graft and postponed effort with almost seeming intent to prejudice the current campaign. But even now, despite Governor Harmon's biased intent, I say, more power to him."

"I have no more authority in this matter than any other citizen of Ohio. But I have assumed some authority and have asked Attorney General Denman, who is campaigning with me, to cancel all his speaking engagements at the close of this meeting and go to Columbus and apply his integrity and official authority to routing and punishing the alleged canal grafters. And Attorney General Denman is going. In all annoying problems there is a tendency to 'Let Denman do it,' and Denman will do it. Let us have instant investigation. The board of public works should proceed instantly to a full, wide open, complete investigation. We want the facts, all of them. Let Governor Harmon have his personal agent, or agents there He must do more than spread suspicion. He must help to push the probe to the end.

Wants the Full Truth.

"It is his duty and the people of Ohio will be satisfied with nothing less We want the full truth, if the charges are made; let every guilty man be punished regardless of personal or political affiliation. If men higher up are involved, let them be teached. If they are not, then in decency let us strike at unfair suspicion. This is the era of injection of honesty and conscience into public service. It is an era as distinct as the awakening of the commercial conscience under Roosevelt, as distinct as industrial restoration under William McKinley. We have reached the plane of supremacy of law and its enforcement; let us characterize this decade with integrity in the pubic service. And let it be a duty of citizenship, rather than political promise. Let us pursue suspected public service the instant there is a suggestion of suspicion and strike at crookedness quicky whenever and wherever it develops in the public service. If it is the outgrowth of neglect, amputate the growth and cure the neglect. If it is graft under the cloak of political responsibility, tear off the cloak and drive off the imposters.

"I speak for a public sentiment that will insist on honest and capable public service and subscribe to a restored and maintained integrity in all the servants of the state."

Longworth Criticizes Harmon.

Congressman Nicholas Longworth declared Governor Harmon was running for the presidency on local issues and for governor of Ohio on national issues. He declared Harmon should be forced to come out and state his position on the one per cent. corporation federal law, the postal savings bank, the federal regulation of railroads and on the tariff, which, Longworth claims, is one of the greatest issues in Ohio this fall. Longworth made a vigorous defense of the tariff law and declared that the country had adopted the maximum and minimum principle of tariff, giving the lowest duties to all countries that treat us fairly and a higher rate to those who discriminate against us. This principle, he declared, was originally written by Thomas Jefferson, but is now opposed by the Democratic party.

MAYOR DEMANDS CHIEF'S RESIGNATION

Matter Grows Out of Cincinnati Graft Probe.

Cincinnati, Oct. 13.—The resignation of Chief of Police Paul Millikin was demanded by Mayor Schwab, today, following a conference between Millikin, the mayor and Safety Director Scott Small. Neither of the men interested would discuss what occurred during the conference, but it is known that disclosures made during the recent police probe were under discussion.

Millikin declares he will not resign.

"I have no idea what is behind this," Millikin stated, this afternoon. "It is an entire surprise to me, because I know of no reason why I should be asked to resign."

The mayor says that Millikin is one of the purest men in Cincinnati's civic life, but that the police department needed a quieting influence and Millikin was unable to give it.

Millikin was appointed seven years ago by former Mayor Julius Fleischmann. He was city auditor and resigned to accept the appointment.

THE EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY LAW

Commission Requests Assistance in Preparing New Measure.

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—The state liability commission has asked the judges of the supreme, federal and circuit courts in Ohio and the legal fraternity to help in the preparation of the law on employers' liability which the commission is preparing. The judges are advised that similar commissions have called for such information from judges in England and other states and that much valuable assistance has been obtained in this way. It is made clear that the opinions of the judges as to the validity of amendments to the present law are not asked for, but rather that the result of the experience of the judges as to the workings in the body politic of the law.

The commission is trying to get up a law that will make both employe and employer careful to the end that accidents will be minimized and that a schedule of damages may be fixed for injuries of employes.

HOTEL GUESTS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Fire Destroys Hotel and Business Block at Macksburg.

Macksburg, O., Oct. 13.—Several persons were badly hurt and property valued at $10,000 destroyed, in the fire which, early this morning, razed the Hotel Longfellow and the Schneider business block adjoining. A number of the hotel guests barely escaped with their lives, climbing down fire escapes or jumping into trees in their night clothes.

William Schimp, night clerk, who could not reach a fire escape, swung into a tree and was badly burned before being rescued Celia Nichols, a dining room girl, fell three stories from a fire escape and was badly injured Lack of water hampered the firemen and it was feared the entire town would burn.

HEADLESS BODY IS FOUND IN RIVER

Whole Countryside Aroused Over Finding of Dead Girl.

Coal Gate, Okla., Oct 13.—The whole countryside is aroused today, over the finding, late yesterday, of the headless and nude body of a white girl floating in a creek near here. John Robinson and Andrew McCluskey, hunters, made the discovery The head had been smoothly severed at the base of the neck and one foot had been cut off

Physicians who examined the body say it had been in the water for several days. Sheriff Murphy and the coroner have not been able to establish the identity of the girl.

TAKES RIDE IN HOXSEY'S CRAFT

Roosevelt Adds New Sensation to Collection.

HE IS PLEASED WITH EXPERIENCE

Colonel Has Very Busy Day in St. Louis.

Roosevelt Comes Down from Ride in Aeroplane and Says the Ride is Bully—Shakes Hands with Aviator and Then Disappears in Cloud of Dust—Colonel Talks to the Traffic Club.

St. Louis, Oct. 12. — Like a good many others, Colonel Roosevelt has succumbed to the temptations of flying. At Kinloch park he made his first flight with Hoxsey. In a Wright biplane he circled the field in 3 minutes and 20 seconds. When he came down to earth the colonel exclaimed it was the bulliest experience he had ever gone through.

"It was the finest experience I ever had," he shouted to the crowd of cheering thousands. "I would have liked to stay up an hour." He shook hands with Hoxsey, thanking him for the ride, and then disappeared in a cloud of dust.

Government control of railroads, one of the striking phases of the new nationalism, furnished Mr. Roosevelt with his leading theme for the speeches he delivered here before members of the Traffic club. The colonel went the limit in advocating control and supervision of the great railroad corporations, greater and more direct than anything he has thus far set forth.

This control, the colonel said, is not the spirit of revolution, but rather the prevention of revolution. He declared that his suggestion for governmental control was for the good of the corporations as well as for the good of the people in this country.

In the very room where he propounded this theory Mr. Roosevelt had a few hours before told the Business Men's league of St. Louis that they must retain control of the terminals if deeper waterways were to be effective in lowering the water rates. It was a day of new nationalism, a day chock full of characteristic Rooseveltisms that have become familiar by this time to those who have read and watched what course the colonel has steered since he began his speechmaking tours.

Small Railroads Dead.

In his address before the Traffic club Mr. Roosevelt said: "The day of the small railroad is past. The personal touch of the managers of a railroad with those outsiders chiefly interested in it no longer exists. It is therefore necessary to face and to meet the new conditions. You can not dispense with the corporation; yet the corporation of today is too big to pursue its way without control.

"There must be government supervision and control of the great railroads. More than that, it must be one government. You can't have 46 or 48 governments control the corporations. If they try to do so the only effect will be that some of them will control the corporation to its detriment and others will control the government to its detriment."

"In most cases," the colonel continued, "it is not really feasible to separate interstate from the intrastate commerce."

"It must be the federal government which exercises that control, because that is the only agency which can be at once entirely efficient and entirely just.

"Having thus got control, the people through their governmental agents are bound not only as a matter of honor, but as a matter of self-interest, to exercise that control with justice and equity A working agreement must be had between the shipper and the railroad, so that justice shall be done to the shipper, to those who have invested their money and to those who work for the railroads."

At the auditorium the audience howled with delight when the colonel got up to speak. They joshed him a bit and the colonel joshed back. He told them nothing pleased him more than the fact that Missouri cast its vote for him for president in 1904. "And we'll do it again," they roared back. Mr. Roosevelt didn't do a thing but smile.

In reference to the tariff Mr. Roosevelt said he did not believe that a majority of the people of the country favored free trade. He heartily indorsed the new tariff commission as offering a method whereby the tariff could be revised in such a way as to afford justice to producer and consumer alike without disturbing business conditions.

MURDER ENDS FAMILY FEUD

New York Tailor Settles an Old Grudge.

HE PLUNGES A DIRK INTO ELDER BROTHER

Travels from Gotham to Baltimore for Purpose.

Louis Scherr Is Overpowered While Standing Over Body of His Victim To Prevent Attempt To Save His Life and Mutters Defiance to Men Trying To Help Dying Man. Crime Is Not Unexpected.

Baltimore, Oct. 13.—Traveling from New York to this city for the purpose of killing his brother, Harry, against whom he bore a grudge, Louis Scherr, a tailor, fulfilled his mission. Without any warning, while Harry was working in his tailor shop, Louis slipped up the stairs to his brother's room. Then without a word of warning the murderer plunged a long dirk knife into the neck of his helpless brother. Back and forth he pulled the knife until the head of his victim was nearly severed from his body. Then he fled down the stairs to the first floor.

Just behind the murderer, Harry Scherr half-crawled and half-tumbled into a second-story room, where a number of other tailors were working. Several of these ran for a doctor, whereupon the murderer, determined he should not be relieved, returned and, standing over his brother's body, muttered defiance. A detail of police was hurried to the scene and, forcing a passage through the dense crowd, disarmed Scherr and carried him to jail.

At the hearing that followed the murderer was remanded for trial, as the only explanation he would offer was that he had come to kill his brother who had wronged him. A family feud that has lasted for nearly five years, the police say, was Scherr's motive for the murder. The murdered man had often told his fellow workmen that he feared death by his brother's hand. Harry was 25 and Louis 22. The former also lived in New York until recently.

EPISCOPALIANS GET SUFFRAGAN BISHOPS

Also Officially Recognize Bible as Word of God.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 13.—The house of deputies of the general conference of the Episcopal church put itself on record as believing in the Bible as the word of God. Some of the members feared that the statement made in debate by the Rev. A. A. Morrison of Oregon against the embodiment in the proposed preamble of the acknowledgment by the church that the holy scriptures represented the word of God, would carry a false impression to the world of the standing of the convention on this point.

The house of bishops finally concurred with the house of deputies in passing the measure for the election of suffragan bishops.

While the house of deputies voted down the recommendations of its committee that an office for the unction of the sick be created, embodying the principle that prayers for the healing of the sick should be given, but without the appearance of any sacrament for the dying, the house of bishops adopted this resolution.

Shoots Herself In Sleep.

Fostoria, O., Oct. 13.—Mrs. Roy Stoner, living five miles from town, arose from bed and went to the barn and shot herself, the bullet passing an inch above the heart. There was much blood in the building, but none on the walk or in the house. She returned to bed, talked to her husband, who went to sleep. He awoke two hours later to find her unconscious in a pool of blood. She only partially regained consciousness during the day, but said "I did it." In the morning she was conscious, took nourishment, but disclaimed all knowledge of the shooting.

Found Dead In Street.

Lancaster, O., Oct. 13.—Frank Donley, 35, of New Straitsville, a miner, was found dead on the sidewalk in front of the Commercial hotel. He and William Slater roomed together, and it is supposed he fell from the window. His arm was crushed at the elbow and he bled to death from the wound. He leaves a wife and six children. There seems suspicion about the death and Slater was arrested and locked up until an investigation is made. Slater declares he knew nothing of the death of his friend until he was awakened.

In theory people want to help others; in practice they try to help themselves to all that others have.

TIMES BOLTS HARMON.

The Paulding Times confesses itse'f as belonging to that division of the Democratic party which is not satisfied to see its party organization become the tool of Wall street and an editorial on October 7 contains a flat refusal to extend further support to Governor Harmon in his quest of a second term. The Times says:

"In 1896 when the Democratic party was rescued from the domination of Wall street and corporate interests and W. J. Bryan nominated for the presidency on the most Democratic platform ever written, Mr. Harmon bolted the nominee and gave active support to the opposition. Had he and other Grover Cleveland followers supported Mr. Bryan he would have been elected by an overwhelming majority and the reforms that Mr. Harmon now pretends to be for would have long been righted. The reelection of Harmon to the governorship and his elevation to the presidency means a return to special privileges of the days of Grover Cleveland—a government for the classes and against the masses.

"Governor Harmon, on account of his favoritism toward corporations, exerted all his influence to defeat the Woods utilities bill to give state control over corporations in the senate, after it had passed the lower house. After exerting himself to defeat the Woods bill then he had this plank inserted in the state platform at the convention that re-nominated him for governor:

"'We favor the fair and just regulation of all public utilities as well as railroads, with the right of home rule as to franchises carefully guarded.'

"The state platform demands the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, but Governor Harmon was in full control of that convention and refused to nominate a candidate for senator. He preferred to leave the selection of the next United States senator to a handful of legislators in preference to a representative body of more than one thousand delegates, although he had the same convention endorse him as candidate for president two years hence.

The press of the country representing Wall street and the great interests, as with one voice, is booming Harmon for governor this year with the avowed purpose of making him the nominee on the Democratic ticket for president in 1912.

"As the professional enemy of graf ers he has appointed and sustained confessed grafters in public office. The Times makes no distinction between a Republican and a Democratic thief and we have no confidence in the motive of the governor that led him to the investigation of state affairs.

"Mr. Harmon has been a corporation lawyer all his life and since he has accepted the governor's chair he has stultified the dignity of that office by appearing and defending corporations in open court."

The Times explains further that it gave Harmon active and loyal support two years ago largely in the belief that he had changed since the days when he bolted Bryan and that his views were such as would permit him to build up the party on the basis of opposition to special privilege, but it confesses that this view was mistaken and that the drift of Harmonism is simply to make the Democratic party an agency of organized wealth. It does not withdraw support from the party platforms ,but declines to advocate the election of a candidate who is inconsistent with platform.—Akron Beacon Journal.

MR. FINLEY, FINANCIER.

During Mr. Finley's incumbency of the office of inspector of Oils under appointment of Governor Pattison, his stenographer, Miss Mary Fleming made and signed a formal statement:

"That Finley paid her $30 per month as stenographer in the office of state inspector of oils that she never knew that the stenographer was allowed by law more than that amount until she discovered from a quarterly report made and filed by Finley that he had charged the state with $50 per month as being paid her as her salary as stenographer; that when she brought the matter to his attention, he said, 'Now, Mary, you just better let that alone, as it is a hard thing to get money from the state, and I do not believe you can get it. So if I were you I would not say anything about it;' that she let the matter run awhile and then brought it to the attention of Governor Harris, who demanded an explanation from Mr. Finley; that a short time after that Finley demanded her resignation, but she refused to resign until he had paid her the full amount due her; that after some time had elapsed he brought her in cash $187 and settled with her in full."

Mr. Finley in his explanation to Governor Harris claimed that he was paying the difference to his daughter who was in college, but Miss Fleming says that at no time was anybody else in the office as stenographer or to do any work in connection with the department while there.

Still, this isn't as small as Creamer's graft in street car tickets—it's just meaner.

Turn the rascals out!—Norwalk Reflector.

A SMALL COMPANY ENJOYS AN EVENING

Harrington Home Is Scene of a Gathering.

TIME IS GIVEN TO SOCIAL PLEASURES

The Misses Florence and Sadie Thew Entertain the Members of the M. E. Sunday-School Orchestra at Their Home Near Caledonia—Village Notes of the Past Week.

Caledonia, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Miss Emma Harrington was hostess to a party of eighteen of her friends, last Friday evening, the occasion being the eleventh anniversary of her birth. Mrs. J. L. Fell and Master Paul Fell, in full Gypsy costume, entertained the little guests nicely with their fortune-telling. Games and music also afforded much merriment. The little hostess was the recipient of a number of pretty presents. A fine luncheon was served.

The Misses Florence and Sadie Thew entertained the orchestra of the M. E. Sunday-school at their country home, Tuesday evening. The guests, aside from the members, were Lewis Fields, Joseph Debus and Miss Milicent Fields.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swisher and Master Harold Pace are enjoying the centennial in Cleveland this week.

S. B. Rice and daughter, Inez, were in Cleveland, Sunday, the guests of Miss Anna Marie Rice.

HOW ABOUT CREAMER.

At Canton, on Saturday, September 24, Governor Judson Harmon said this:

"So the question before the people is, Shall the conduct of the present governor and treasurer be approved or condemned?"

Governor Harmon has the sublime confidence of the well-paid corporation lawyer when he makes that appeal to the people of Ohio. The governor tried to keep State Treasurer David Staley Creamer from being renominated as the Democratic candidate for treasurer of state here in Dayton, but in this he was unsuccessful for Creamer came across with sixty-eight votes more than was necessary to nominate, although 472 delegates registered their votes and a protest against him.

It will be remembeered that John J. Lentz, now a candidate for United States senator, made a plea before the Dayton convention for Creamer's vindication. Then it was that Samuel G. Rogers, Democrat, of Akron, startled the convention by demanding: "If such strenuous efforts on the part of an able lawyer is necessary to justify Creamer before this convention, how much more effort will be required to elect him?"

Inasmuch as Creamer has already entered a plea of "Guilty" to petty graft, the people of Ohio have no further interest in this nominee of the Democratic party except to read on the day after election of the plurality registered against him.

And Governor Harmon' espousal of the cause of the convicted Creamer should and will cost him thousands of votes.—Dayton Journal.

A CORPORATION MAN.

Comparatively speaking, we don't presume there is a county in Ohio with so many Bryan Democrats within its confines as Little Wyandot. This fact perhaps accounts for the lukewarmness shown hereabouts by the Democracy towards the candidacy of Governor Harmon. It is easily figured out. If Harmon is reelected, he will, without question, be the next Democratic nominee for president, which will be directly contrary to the wishes of Bryan, who has refused to come to Ohio this year and speak for him. Bryan regards Harmon as a corporation man and in this estimate he is correct, for he has been identified with corporations all his life.—Upper Sandusky Union-Republican.

Henry Grol was a Columbus visitor, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fargo were guests, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. William Ruth.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bland went to Columbus, Saturday. Mrs. Bland remained at a sanitorium, where she is takiig treatment.

Miss Vivian Knickle suffered a serious relapse of typhoid fever, Saturday, and has since been in a critical condition.

CAN'T STAND HARMON.

The Paulding Times, one of the influential Democratic papers in that Democratic, northwest, territory, has bolted Judson Harmon. It opposes him on the ground that Harmon opposed Bryan in his three presidential campaigns and that he is a man whose every act as chief executive of the state has shown that he is in sympathy with corporations and their interests.

It is not the attitude of the Times that alarms Democratic campaign managers, officials and politicians, but the fact that the editorial denunciation of Governor Harmon reflects what is in the mind of many loyal Bryan Democrats in the state and the fear that there may be a general revolt on the part of the more ardent Bryan papers throughout the state.

This editorial denunciation of Harmon and Senator Richard A. Beatty's excoriation of D. S. Creamer as a man unworthy of support for the responsible office of treasurer of state has caused consternation in Democratic political circles today and repeated conferences were held to stem the tide which appears to have set in against the party and its candidates.—Mansfield News.

DENMAN READY TO START PROBE

He Holds the Grand Jury for Future Work.

MARKER'S CHARGES WILL BE PROBED

Attorney General Discusses the Canal Matter.

Declares He Will Not Consider the State Board in His Probe and He May Hold Investigation in His Own Office—Says Members of the Board Can Appear and Give What Evidence They Can on Matter.

Columbus, O., Oct. 13. — Attorney General Denman has arranged to have the Franklin county grand jury remain in session in order that the canal graft charges made by Chief Engineer Marker may be laid before it. An investigation into the entire canal system will be commenced next Monday.

In discussing the graft charges Mr. Denman said: "I shall not consider the state board of public works in this probe. My plans are not fully matured, but my present impression is that I will conduct the investigation in my own office. The members of the board can appear there and furnish such evidence as they may wish to offer. My reason for asking the Franklin county grand jury held is that I may be able to take the whole matter direct to it, after the charges and the evidence offered in their support or denial have been sifted at my own investigation. Of one thing I am certain, no man will be shielded in the investigation, and I don't care whom the facts hit."

Talk Over Plans.

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—Governor Harmon and Attorney General Denman got together, today, to talk over plans for starting the canal graft investigation, but soon found that nothing can be done until Chief Engineer James R. Marker gets back to Columbus. Marker went to Akron to look into canal matters. Both the governor and Denman decided it would be best to await Marker's return, when a second conference will be held and plans mapped out.

Marker has in his possession all the evidence that has been dug up by the detectives employed by Governor Harmon. The governor told the attorney general that he would see that all the evidence and any other information that the detectives or Marker may have is turned over to him.

Denman said, today, the investigation would be held at his office and that he favored open sessions.

Denman doesn't propose to be bound by any resolutions that the board of public works has passed in regard to the investigation.

Right and Duty.

"By reason of being attorney general, it is my right and my duty to make an investigation into charges of grafting, in a state department and I shall proceed along my own lines, said the attorney general. "Of course, the members of the board and Chief Engineer Marker may be present; in fact, I shall be glad to have them present and assist me."

In deciding to go ahead with the investigation on his own hook, the attorney general is not concealing the fact that he doesn't think it entirely proper for the members of the board to investigate alleged rottenness in their own department, or for Marker to sit as an investigator and pass on the justice of charges which he himself has preferred.

However, the attorney general must have the cooperation of the board insofar as summoning witnesses and administering oaths are concerned. The attorney general himself, in this instance, can not issue subpoenas, as this must be done by the board.

Possibly Colonel Bryan's Ohio admirers may not lean to the view that that first one check and then the other is a good rule in politics In any event the situation is one that is keeping some of the gentlemen on the state Democratic ticket awake o nights

MORGAN'S STOCK

Harper Weekly owned by J P Morgan gives an unqualified endorsement to Governor Harmon The New York Sun another Morgan owned newspaper has already delivered a typographical halo to the Ohio hope of the allied interests

It is evident that Mr Harmon is going to have plenty of newspaper support in his proposed delivery of the White House to Wall street With the Morgan newspapers the Hearst newspapers and the Scripps McRae newspapers in his train he is assured of plenty of publicity

Harper's Weekly's declaration published previous to the Rochester convention follows

The renomination of Governor Harmon in Ohio is a step toward perfecting the qualification of an available man and Democrat to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president If Governor Harmon can carry Ohio again his friends will be abundantly warranted in trying to send him to the White House Whether he carries Ohio again or not he is a man the Democrats must consider We should like to see a group of such candidates under consideration by the Democrats two years from now Toledo Blade

DEMOCRACY NOT UNITED

While Democracy is striving to sow seeds of discord into the Republican camp in the present state political campaign it is forgetting that it is no means a united party in itself

This is unfortunate It is always a matter of regret to see any one who lives in a glass house throwing stones That is what is particularly said about Governor Harmon's cry of graft put now when he is attacking Republican officials who were claimed to be dishonest and defending the Democratic office holders whom he himself elevated to places of trust and who have been proven to have made improper use of the public moneys

Owing to the fact that all of the Cleveland newspapers except the Leader which is the least circulated of the city dailies in the six counties are Harmon organs it is not a matter of common knowledge to the voters of Ashtabula county that the Democratic party in Ohio is badly split The state political writers on the three Cleveland Harmon newspapers so much of whose stuff is read by the people in this section never breathe a word about trouble in the Harmon camp but they keep talking all the while about how greatly harassed the Republicans are because their leaders have individuality and do not all meet frowns on the boss's beard

The fact is will probably be news to many to learn that the Democratic party is unalterably opposed Harmon but the writers who are Democrats dislike to see business stand still Columbus state matter and its future to see that the street cars are kept running that the fall trade of the Democratic merchant is not injured the relation of the contesting persons and the fact that he has always been a corporation lawyer that the scrapping Democrat who is a candidate on the Harmon ticket for treasurer and who in the event he is elected has pledged himself to aid Democratic assessments against the bitter active and has caused numerous Democratic bigwigs to bolt Creamer and counsel Harmon that the candidacy of Timothy Hogan for attorney general on the Harmon ticket is prevented another lawyer for the band wagon and that Graves who is named for secretary of state is likewise a burden so great that the Democratic papers in the home counties of Mooney's opponent are openly taken him to task and refuse to support him

So that the fact can not be disputed that Governor Harmon is in strength in the state this fall and that those who are associated with him on the ticket are handicapped by the weight of the ticket as it is afflicted Ticket is indeed one of the worst ever put before the voters of Ohio for their support and in decided contrast to the Republican line up strong well balanced and above criticism

There is also an other difference It is that between a boss picked machine and a direct effort of voters as the Democratic side and a group of men who have risen high in the estimation of their communities in other places of trust honor called by the popular votes of the electors themselves to enter higher into the councils of the Republican party and assume the lead in the affairs of the state Ashtabula Telegram Record

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

In less than a month the chief executive officer of one of the wealthiest and most powerful corporations in the world will be chosen The shares of stock are distributed equally among more than 000 000 owners The new board of directors to be sworn in on the first Monday in January will consist of about 10 men and they will be in session continuously for several months

The corporation is the greatest unincorporated concern in Ohio Every citizen holds one share of stock The directors are the members of the Legislature who will make appropriations of millions of the people's money and make laws which will either protect the shareholders and conserve the resources of both the public and privately owned corporations

The chief executive officer with almost unlimited executive power and armed with the big stick veto will be the governor

The governor will be Warren G Harding who is in Toledo today to open the Republican campaign, for Judson Harmon

Harding, as he himself declared and as state convention results proved was the candidate of no eminent men or special interest He was nominated by the votes of delegates from seventy seven of the eighty eight counties in Ohio On the first and second ballots he received a vote at any of the conventions controlled by so called bosses His strength was in the confidence of the free unhampered delegates representing the masses of the voters He had won that confidence because he had been tried in the fire of previous campaigns and had withstood the acid test applied while he served his county and district as a member of the legislature and later the people of all the state as their lieutenant governor

Progressive fearless honest able is Warren G Harding His opponents in desperation attempt to make an issue of the fact that some of the so called party bosses voted in convention for Warren G Harding True they did They scrambled over the tailboard of the band wagon with nimble feet but hissing spirit after they had been hopelessly outnumbered and outgeneraled by untrammeled representatives of the people in convention assembled

Now how about Judson Harmon he'll within the week by the staunch old Democratic editor of the Dublin Times who says he represents the predatory corporations in standing with the people's organization

A few weeks ago Representative Frank Wood of Medina county in hot of the public utilities bill which was defeated last winter at Harmon's behest addressed this question to the governor

Are you in favor of fair regulation of the issue of stocks and bonds by public service corporations

The governor was silent

The governor's secretary made this explanation Mr Woods isn't a public officeholder any longer He has no more right to ask such questions than any one else

Stand familiar like Vander Lip's historic The public be damned

How will the people whether they be office holders or not the inherent right How exactly where Mr Harmon and their candidate stand with regard the business of the corporation and the privately owned utilities

There's just one other question in this campaign that the candidates for governor are concerned Shall we or shall we not have the people's right to be represented with them in power the private corporations that will prey upon it

Which is it

CURRENT TOPIC CLUB ENJOYS FINE PROGRAM

Mrs. J. E. Thomas Is Hostess to Members.

THREE-MINUTE TALKS OCCUPY AFTERNOON

Mrs. Ray Phillians Is Hostess to Members of the Jolly Club—Time Is Passed With Embroidery Work and a Discussion of Current Events, Some Local Social Notes.

The members of the Current Topic club were nearly all present at a meeting held, Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. J. E. Thomas, of Neil and Vernon avenues.

The subject of the program was Egypt and three-minute talks on the subject were given by various members of the club. The meeting was an exceptionally good one and every number on the program was well prepared and given careful thought.

The program was opened with a paper talk by Mrs. J. E. Thomas after which Miss Loretta Allmendinger spoke of "The Nile--Ancient Gardens." Mrs. T. E. Day gave a talk on "Climate, Fauna and Flora;" "Program of the Race," was given by Mrs. W. C. Beatty, and was followed by talks, "The Old Memphis Kingdom," by Mrs. J. C. Anthony; "The Temples of Karnak and Luxor," by Mrs. D. E. J. Brockett; "Other Ancient Temples and Statues," Mrs. A. B. Denman; "Rameses, the Great," Mrs. F. W. Fish; "Other Ancient Prominent Kings," Miss Abigail Gast; "Queen Hatasu and Her Fleet," Mrs. D. H. Harvey; "The Pyramids and Their Builders," Mrs. J. B. Hume, and "Passing of Power Out of Native Hands," by Mrs. Will Hunt.

Mrs. H. S. Martin favored the company with a vocal solo and the talks were resumed as follows: "The Founding of Alexandria," Mrs. Nelhe Frey; "Israel's Contact with Egypt," Miss Etta Jacoby; "The Theban Rule," Mrs. J. B. Hearse; "Egyptian Myths and Legends" Mrs. S. B. Lippincott; "Types of Egyptian Women," Mrs. Frank R. Mann; "Society—General Culture," Mrs. H. S. Martin; "Egyptian Games and Festivals," Mrs. M. H. Pinyerd; "Deities," Miss Flora Smith; "Egyptians as Mathematicians," Mrs. D. L. Sellers; "Medicine and Embalming," Mrs. Evan E. Smith; "Glass Manufacture," Mrs. G. A. Starner; "Papyrus Paper—Forms of Writing," Mrs. J. B. Taylor; "Egyptian Home Life," Mrs. J. C. Turner, and "Egyptian Decorative Art and Craft," Mrs. Mary A. Wolford.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. M. E. Wetmore, of Delaware avenue, Tuesday, October 18.

Mrs. Ray Phillians was hostess to the members of the Jolly club at her home on Davids street, Tuesday afternoon.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent with embroidery work and a discussion of current events. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held in one month at the home of Mrs. Jesse Walker, of Davids street.

* * *

Nearly all the members of the Embroidery club were guests of Mrs. Arthur C. Bachman, of east Center street, Tuesday afternoon.

The women spent a very pleasant social visiting over their needlework, and later in the afternoon the hostess served a buffet tea.

Only club members were present.

Miss Grace King entertained a company of her young lady and gentlemen friends at a farewell party for Miss Lelia Disbennett, at her home on Uncapher avenue, Tuesday evening. Miss Disbennett expects to leave Saturday morning for Los Angeles, California, to spend the winter and she is receiving a number of social attentions from her friends during the week.

The young people spent the hours jolly in the enjoyment of games and music and late in the evening the hostess served excellent refreshments.

* * *

The Happy Thought circle met with Miss Edna Neidhart, of Willow street Tuesday evening. After a business session, a season of embroidery work occupied the attention of the young women until luncheon time when refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks.

About fifteen of the friends and relatives of Mrs. Katherine Wolfinger gave her a very agreeable surprise at her home on south State street, Tuesday evening, in celebration of her seventy-first birthday. She was very nicely remembered with a number of gifts.

The time was passed socially and refreshments were served.

* * *

Miss Ruby Williams, of Uncapher avenue, entertained about twenty of friends, Wednesday evening, in honor of her seventeenth birthday. The home was very prettily decorated with bouquets of white roses and red carnations.

The girls arrived at the Williams home attired as little school girls, after an hour's fun playing school, with Miss Ina Tobin as teacher, Miss Alma Reading and Miss Ruth King each sang a solo and Miss Daphna Longshore rendered a piano selection.

After a season of games and dancing, a buffet luncheon was served.

Miss Vesta Stunt, of Columbus, was an out-of-town guest.

* * *

Mr. Burton Blair was pleasantly surprised by about twenty-five of his young lady and gentlemen friends at his home on south Main street, Tuesday evening, the occasion being the celebration of his birthday. He received a number of useful gifts from his friends.

A jolly time was passed with music and games. Near midnight, a luncheon was served.

* * *

Mr. Philip Ebert and Mr. T. F. Horseman planned and carried out a very successful surprise in celebration of the birthday of Mrs. Philip Ebert, Wednesday. In the early evening, about forty friends and relatives gathered at the Ebert home to remind their hostess of the occasion and to help her celebrate the event. She was presented a number of beautiful gifts.

After an enjoyable season of cards and music, excellent refreshments were served.

* * *

Mrs. Carrie Owens entertained informally at a six-o'clock dinner at her home on Delaware avenue, Wednesday evening, for Mrs. LeRoy Owens, of Los Angeles, California. Covers were laid for the honor guest, Mrs. Owens; Mr. and Mrs. John D. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford A. Owens and son, John Arthur, and the hostess.

* * *

Miss Hazel Harvey has issued invitations for a five-o'clock tea at her home on south Vine street, Thursday, October 20, for Miss Harriet M. Wolford.

* * *

In honor of their guest, Miss Hazel Myers, of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller, of west Center street, entertained at a euchre party, Wednesday evening. Three tables of players enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Miller, the ladies' prize, a hand-painted plate, being won by Mrs. Roy Pinyerd, and the gentlemen's prize, a silver jewel case, being won by Mr. Clyde Ullom. Following the season at cards, a luncheon was served.

Those present, aside from the honor guest, were Mr. and Mrs. John Dairy, Mr. and Mrs. John Schweinfurth, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pinyerd and Mr. Clyde Ullom.

MRS. GEORGE FOREMAN VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Arms Are Caught in a Clothes Wringer.

Mrs. George Foreman, of east Center street, met with a painful injury, about noon Tuesday, when she caught her right arm in a motor clothes wringer while washing. In attempting to extricate the member her other arm was drawn into the wringer. Both sleeves were torn from her dress and the right arm was bruised and lacerated above the elbow. Dr. M. B. Newhouse was called and rendered the necessary attention.

KOEHLER HOME IS THE SCENE OF A MARRIAGE

Miss Florence Koehler and Mr. C. A. Kiel United.

The Marriage Ceremony Is Performed by Rev. E. E. Zeckiel in Presence of a Company of Friends and Relatives of Young People.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Koehler home on south Main street, Wednesday, at noon when Miss Florence May Koehler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Koehler, was united in marriage to Mr. Clarence Allen Keil, son of Mr. John Keil, of south Main street.

At the appointed hour, to the wedding march played by Miss Louise Cull, a cousin of the bride, the young people attended by Miss Grace Queen as maid of honor, Miss Clara L. Reidenbaugh as ring bearer and Mr. A. C. Queen, took their places before a bank of palms in the front parlor where, in the presence of a company of about fifty friends and relatives, Rev. F. E. Zechiel, pastor of the First Reformed church, read the beautiful ring ceremony. The bride was charming in a dainty creation of white Persian lawn.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served, the bride and groom and immediate relatives being seated at the bride's table, which was prettily decorated with pink and white carnations. The remainder of the company was seated at small tables about the rooms.

During the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Keil left, amid a shower of best wishes, for a short wedding journey, and on their return will be at home to their friends on south Seffner avenue after November 1.

The bride is an attractive young woman, and has a large circle of friends. The groom is employed as a bookkeeper by the Marion Steam Shovel company and is held in highest regard by employers and friends.

People who try to impress you with their wealth usually find it difficult to make both ends meet.

MISS WILSON WILL SING AT FATHER'S POLITICAL MEETINGS

MISS FLORA WILSON

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 10.—James Wilson, veteran secretary of agriculture, will be assisted by his daughter, Miss Flora Wilson, in his Iowa speaking tour. Miss Wilson will sing at the meetings. Mr. Wilson is coming here to represent the administration, making no distinction between regulars and progressives. Miss Wilson prepared for the grand opera stage under Jean de Reszke in Paris and has been heard in New York and Washington. Her many friends here say she will be almost as great a drawing card as her famous father. Singing of grand opera quality to lend an artistic side to the asperities of political debate will be a novelty in the West, and it is believed that people of all shades of political belief will flock to Secretary Wilson's meetings.

PEACH APPETITE GETS A LAMB INTO TROUBLE

Lamb Butts Tree in Order To Get the Peaches.

LEARNS THE TRICK FROM THE CHILDREN

Applies Tricks of Children to a Tree They Do Not Visit and Rejoices in Plenty of Fruit—Butcher Calls at Home and Lamb Is Now on the Market.

Juicy chunks of meat hanging in the refrigerator and being dealt over the counter at the Jeff Osborne meat shop on west Center street, have an interesting story behind them and the butcher is relating the story to his customers with considerable enthusiasm.

Osborne had contracted for some live stock on the Ora Weiss farm on the Keener pike west of the city and sent his butcher there Monday. When the other business had been disposed of, it developed that the family had a pet lamb of which the family was not overly fond and of which the family was rather inclined to dispose. As a result of inquiries, the story developed and the lamb was slaughtered.

"You see we had some fine peaches on our trees here," said Mr. Weiss in explanation, "but we noticed almost daily that they were disappearing and no ripe ones were ever on the ground. We were puzzled to know what was up until one day we saw that pet lamb take a few steps backward, butt that tree and eat a quantity of the peaches which he had knocked down."

The butcher was non-plussed and told Weiss he was from Missouri and he would have to be shown, but he was ready to believe the story when Mrs. Weiss came on the scene, and confirmed the statement.

The pet had very probably learned the trick from the children at the Weiss home who shook the tree to get peaches, but from the certain tree which the lamb had been accustomed to butt, the children had not been shaking and in consequence his pranks, repeated at intervals, were soon learned by the members of the family.

The result of the lamb's love for peaches is that he is being dealt over the counter in the local shop.

MRS. FRED ZACHMAN ENTERTAINS VEREIN

Business Session Is Followed by Social Hour.

Mrs. Fred Zachman, of east George street, entertained the members of the Friendschaaft Verein at her home, Wednesday afternoon. The attendance was large, and following a short business session the time was passed socially and luncheon was served.

The next meeting will be held, the second Wednesday in November, with Mrs. C. A. Reifl, of Elm street.

It takes as little to start some men to arguing as it does to start some women gossiping.

LEWIS HOLYCROSS IS VICTIM OF APOPLEXY

Death Comes After an Illness of Eight Months.

Lewis Holycross, aged fifty-eight years, seven months and two days, died at his home four miles west of the city on the Keener pike, Wednesday night at 10 o'clock. Eight months ago, Mr. Holycross suffered a stroke of paralysis and since that time has been an invalid. Friday evening, he had an attack of apoplexy which caused his death.

Mr. Holycross was born in Darby township, Union county, and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Holycross, both deceased. He was united in marriage forty years ago in Union county to Miss Mary Orr, and of this union were born two children, Mrs. Ella Price, of near Marysville, and Lester Holycross, who resides at home. He also is survived by four grandchildren, and the following brothers and sisters:

Mrs. Hester Reed and Samuel Holycross, of Darby Plains; Mrs. Roxie Hawn and Marion Holycross, of Marysville, and Mrs. Anna Gailey Jack, of Remington, Indiana. He was a member of the Congregational church of Marysville, and a prosperous farmer.

The remains were taken to Marysville, Thursday, where the funeral was held from the Congregational church Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The burial was made in the Oakdale cemetery at that place.

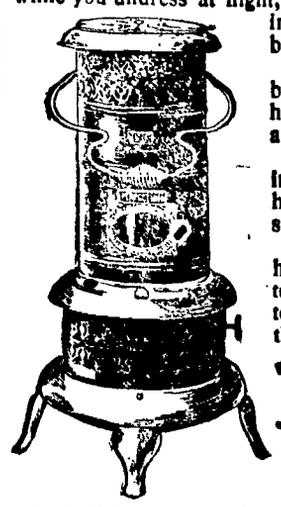
CIRCUIT COURT.

In the matter of Alice J. Harris against the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Railroad company and Eli West as receiver, C. Mayo Osborne, and Clifton C. Osborne, sole heirs of Alice J. Harris, deceased, filed supplemental petition in the circuit court, Thursday, asking to be subrogated to the rights of the plaintiff as prayed in the original petition.

The suede glove has not lost caste, but the smooth gloves are more fashionable than they have been for some time.

Temporary Heat Quickly

Did you ever stop to think of the many ways in which a perfect oil heater is of value? If you want to sleep with your window open in winter, you can get sufficient heat from an oil heater while you undress at night, and then turn it off. Apply a match in the morning, when you get out of bed, and you have heat while you dress.



Those who have to eat an early breakfast before the stove is radiating heat can get immediate warmth from an oil heater, and then turn it off.

The girl who practices on the piano in a cold room in the morning can have warmth from an oil heater while she plays, and then turn it off.

The member of the family who has to walk the floor on a cold winter's night with a restless baby can get temporary heat with an oil heater, and then turn it off. The

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless

is invaluable in its capacity of quickly giving heat. Apply a match and it is immediately at work. It will burn for nine hours without refilling. It is safe, smokeless and odorless. It has a damper top and a cool handle. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font.

It has an automatic-locking flame spreader which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be cleaned in an instant.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, and can be quickly unscrewed for rewicking. Finished in japan or nickel, strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

HEATED ARGUMENT IN COURT LAST THURSDAY

Matter of Sale of Lumber Company's Property.

SALE OF PROPERTY ALLOWED TO STAND

Attorneys for the Parties Concerned in the Litigation Reach an Agreement and the Court Acts in Accord With the Agreement—Local Common Pleas Court Notes.

The motion filed in the common pleas court by H. B. Hane, as receiver of the Implement Manufacturing company, to set aside the sale of the Greenwood Street Lumber company's property, on Greenwood street, alleging misrepresentation and fraud, was overruled by Judge Scofield, Thursday, following an agreement reached by the litigants.

When the petition was filed, October 1, asking that the sale made by the sheriff be set aside on the grounds mentioned above, it was whispered that a sensation would likely develop. The property was sold to F. M. Smith, of Columbus, whom Attorney H. W. Donithen stated he represented and at the request of the latter the sale of the property was confirmed in his name and the deed executed to him. Some misunderstanding followed, and, as a result, the motion was filed. While Attorney Crissinger and Attorney Donithen had a heated discussion during the argument of the matter, Thursday, matters were so adjusted that the attorneys consented to the motion of the plaintiff being overruled.

Jacob J. Schoenlaub, Justus S. Lunger, John W. Thompson and Charles M. Hartwell against G. O. Cruikshank and O. H. Riley is the title of a petition filed in the common pleas court through E. W. Schoenlaub and Eymon & Thompson, attorneys for the plaintiffs.

The petition sets up that the plaintiffs are the owners of a certain patent on an improvement in mail boxes, and, in April, 1909, they entered into an agreement with the defendants and the plaintiffs leased to the defendants the patent right for one year from April 5, 1909, for a consideration of four cents a box sold, said consideration not to amount to less than $800. Plaintiffs gave the defendants the right to purchase the patent at any time during the year for $4,275, less any royalties that were paid. They further set up that the defendants have paid but $24 royalty and that there is due them the sum of $776. They ask for a judgment for this amount against the defendants, with interest and costs.

STOCKHOLDERS HOLD AN ANNUAL MEETING

Reports for the Year are Submitted and Accepted.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Marion Brewing & Bottling company was held at the office of the company Tuesday afternoon. The various reports were made and accepted. The report of the secretary showed the business to be satisfactory during the past year, considering the circumstances. The board of directors elected is composed of F. H. Ritzhaupt, H. B. Hane, Samuel Kraner, George B. Scofield, O. Wollenweber, Herman Feidner and L. W. Tron. The directors will organize at a meeting to be held the second Tuesday in November. The officers and those in charge at the brewery were extended congratulations for the economical manner in which the business has been conducted during the year.

Following the meeting an elaborate lunch, prepared by Carl Schwagler, was served.

Wants a Pardon.

Application was made to the state pardon board, Thursday for Jas. E. Revels, colored, sent to the penitentiary, April 1901, for life for second degree murder. He killed the late Frank Robinson, colored.

THE CELEBRATION OF PRETTY HOME WEDDING

Miss Florence Kinney Marries Mr. Roy Beaver.

YOUNG PEOPLE WILL RESIDE ON A FARM

William H. Lake Resigns as Secretary of the Board of Education and Is Succeeded by Dr H. C. Duke—Miss Ridgeway and Mr. J. C. Blair Wedded—Richwood Notes.

Richwood, Oct. 12.—[Special.]—A very pretty home wedding was solemnized, Tuesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Kinney, southwest of Richwood, when their only daughted, Miss Mary Florence Kinney, was united in marriage to Mr. Roy Beaver, a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Beaver, of near Richwood. The words uniting the couple were pronounced by the bride's uncle, Rev. N. J. Kinney, and her cousin, Miss Ethel Kinney, played Mendelssohn's wedding march. The bride, who is a very charming young woman, graduated from the local High school with the class of 1908. Her husband, who is a prosperous young farmer, came here a few years ago from Marion county. Following the marriage ceremony, a three-course dinner was served by the Misses Ethel, Leila and Mary Kinney, Ida Freeman, Alma Allen and Marion Fisher. The tables were beautiful with their decorations of pink and white carnations. Covers were laid for thirty-five of the relatives and friends of the bride and groom. After a few days' visit with Mrs. Beaver's brother, Blaine Kinney, and wife, of Canton, the bride and groom will begin housekeeping on their farm near Pharisburg, where a new house has been furnished ready for occupancy.

William H. Lake has resigned as secretary of the Richwood board of education, after having served for more than fourteen years as a member or an officer of the organization. Owing to illness and his many duties, Mr. Lake decided to discontinue his services as a board member, his resignation having been accepted with great reluctance by those concerned. Dr. H. C. Duke was chosen as secretary of the board and G. M. Howard was elected to fill the vacancy in the membership list.

Miss Eva Ridgeway and Mr. J. C. Blair were united in marriage, Thursday, at the bride's home in Crestline. Mrs. Blair is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ridgeway, who recently moved to Crestline from Richwood, and is a young woman of pleasing personality. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Blair and has lived here all his life. He is engaged in the harness and implement business. He and his bride will reside in the Blair residence on west Ottawa street.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gray, daughter, Lucille, and son, Everett, of Marion, were the guests, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Gray.

The fire department made a run to the home of Russell Tanner, in Beem's addition, Sunday morning, a barn having been discovered in a blaze. As the building was small, it was almost consumed before the arrival of the fire company. Several yards of new carpet, a new set of harness and various small articles were destroyed by the flames, the origin of which is unknown. Mr. Tanner carried $60 insurance on the barn and contents.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schambs, of Cardington, spent Sunday with the former's brother, E. A. Schambs, and family.

Don McCombs, of Toledo, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCombs.

Became Household Word.

An old doctor was operated on in a hospital in Berlin. On leaving he was sympathized with and pitied by all his old friends who met him, for his hair had suddenly turned white as snow. The truth of the matter was that Foxy Grandpa had no chance to dye his hair in the hospital. So when he got out he made the most of the matter with the first person he met, and became so famous that he was appointed one of the king's physicians and died rich, and his name, like the prisoner of Chillon, became a household word.—New York Press.

TO WEAR TROUSERS

Suffragette Leaders Decide Upon Costume of Future.

© 1910, by American Press Association.

WHAT NEXT?

Women About to Encroach on One of Man's Prerogatives.

New York, Oct. 14.—One tremendous throbbing, vital question has been settled—viz., father is not the only member of the household to wear trousers.

It was bound to come—the oldest settler knew this many moons ago! But, honestly, the sterner sex of New York hardly expected his fair sister was going to come out in a suit of clothes that were in fashion a few years ago. True, the coat, hat, collar and tie are of the latest fashion, but the trousers—they have all the earmarks of the garment worn by Englishmen a half dozen years ago.

Authorities in dressing suggest that the public will have to be patient for a short time and a very short time at that—until mother and sister are making raids on the clothes closets of husbands or brother.

In the meantime the suffragette suit has come. It has and is being worn not by a majority of women, but a few bold spirits. The wearing has been confined to a limited district, but a number of women declare they are going to wear the suits on Broadway. And Police Commissioner Baker has sent a frantic call to all reserve policemen to report for duty at once.

MARKER IGNORES GOVERNOR'S ORDER

Fails to Show Up at Conference of Canal Probers.

Columbus, O. Oct 14. — Governor Harmon and Attorney General Denman got together to talk over plans for starting the canal graft investigation, but soon found that nothing can be done until Chief Engineer James R. Marker gets back to Columbus. Marker went to Akron to look into canal matters. The governor telegraphed him to be present for the conference with the attorney general, but he failed to show up Both the governor and Denman then decided it would be best to await Marker's return, when a second conference will be held and plans mapped out.

Marker is vitally essential at this time because he has in his possession all the evidence that has been dug up by the detectives employed by Governor Harmon The governor told the attorney general that he would see that all the evidence and any other information that the detectives or Marker may have is turned over to him.

PARIS PLUNGED INTO DARKNESS

Electrical Workers Go Out In Sympathy With Trainmen.

BOMB IS EXPLODED IN STREET

Wrecks Doors and Windows In Fashionable Quarter of City—Drastic Measures Adopted by Government Bear Fruit, but Conditions In General Remain Unchanged — Trains Are Now Operated by Crews Wearing Armlets of Military Service.

Paris, Oct. 14.—The general strike situation remains uncharged, although the energetic measures adopted by the government have relieved congested conditions to a certain extent in some quarters. The calling of reservists to serve the colors proved a most effective move. Men were seen in many places in Paris and at the provincial stations wearing armlets, which are practically a uniform showing that they were under military law. The material and color of the armlets showed their rank and the regiments to which they belong.

Early this morning a bomb exploded in front of No. 6 Rue Berri. The noise aroused the surrounding district, which is one of the most fashionable in Paris. The fine doors of the house were damaged, the inner doors shattered and the windows blown to pieces. The houses on each side were affected. Nobody was injured. The cause of the attack is unknown.

Resort to Lamps.

The electric lights in the Clych and Champs Elysees sections were cut out. The putting out of the lights is presumably due to a strike in sympathy with the railroad men. Plenty of lamps were available, however, and they were quickly produced. The supply was obtained during a previous similar experience and during the floods of last January, when the electric machinery was put out of commission by the water.

Premier Briand, commenting on the electricians' act, emphasized the revolutionary character of the strike.

A battalion of infantry was detailed to protect the palace, which is the residence of President Falliores.

It was voted at a meeting of transport workers the employes of the Metropolitan Omnibus and Tramway lines should strike, it being left to each union to fix the time for the strikes to be inaugurated.

DEBATE CHANGES IN NAME

Episcopalian Convention Unable to Reach Agreement.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 14.—The question of changing the name of the Protestant Episcopal church, which has agitated the church delegates at the past several triennial conventions until it has become a matter of utmost importance to most of them, was discussed, and the debate will continue today. The elements in the church that have long favored a change of name have become practically united on the name of the "Episcopal Church of the United States of America," and recognition of the fact that this church is a part of the holy Catholic church.

A majority of the committee to whom the matter was referred reported that it was considered inexpedient to offer the matter to a vote of this convention, but there were many eloquent clergy and lay deputies who supported the minority report favoring the change of title page of the book of common prayer into the following language: "The book of common prayer and administration of the sermons and other rites and ceremonies of the holy Catholic church according to the use of that portion thereof known as the Episcopal Church of the United States of America, together with the psalter and psalms of David."

LOOK FOR PREACHER

Inspectors Fail to Find Head of Investment Company.

Boston, Oct 14—Federal officers raided the mahogany furnished offices of the Redeemable Investment company, covering the entire sixth floor of the Lawrence building, seized the books, papers and all the cash in sight and arrested Charles H. Brooks, manager and a director of the company. The raid was upon a warrant which charges the company with using the mails to defraud.

The deputy marshal wanted to get the Rev. Norman Plass, president of the Redeemable Investment company, when they raided the office, but were disappointed, and efforts are being made to find him. Lots of literature was put out by the company and some of it contains the alleged indorsements of President Plass by prominent people, among them being Secretary of the Interior Ballinger, Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court and Senator Curtis.

Shopmen Walk Out.

Paducah, Ky., Oct 14—The entire force of the Illinois Central shops here walked out in sympathy with the striking carmen. More than 1,000 men are out.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Live News From All Parts of the Buckeye State.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—George Douglass, 24 a South Carolina negro, shot and killed his sweetheart, Mamie Bell, 20, and wounded Mrs. Bessie Redman and Simpson Galloway, all colored, before he was shot down by Officers James Creedon and Charles Zetty, following a pistol duel at Stone alley and Noble street. Duglass, who is held at the police station with bullet wounds in the right wrist and right leg, admits shooting the girl. He had been drinking and shot the others, who merely happened to be in the way of some of the 15 bullets which he fired about the house and the alley.

Gorrell Charges Filed.

Columbus, O., Oct 14.—The fate of Mayor A H Gorrell of Zanesville, whom the drys of that city are trying to oust from office, now rests with Governor Harmon. A petition for Gorrell's removal, backed by 14 different charges of misconduct in office, and supported by more than 100 affidavits, were officially filed with the governor's secretary, George S. Long, by Rev. D. M. Ross and William J. Massey, representatives of the Zanesville Civic league.

Secretary Ballinger In Wreck.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 14—Secretary of the Interior Ballinger, returning to Washington, was injured in a collision between two passenger trains here. The secretary's arm was bruised and he was badly shaken up. The two trains met head-on in the suburbs of the city. They were running at moderate speed, and to this is due the escape of the passengers from more serious injury or death.

Hamilton Made Big Gain.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The census office announced the 1910 enumeration of the following cities with changes since 1900: Hamilton, O., 35,279, increase 11,365, or 47.5 per cent, Lorain, O., 28,883, increase 12,855, or 80.2 per cent; Wilmington, N. C., 25,748, increase 4,772, or 22.7 per cent; Madison, Wis., 25,531, increase 6,367, or 33.2 per cent.

Police Rescue Miner.

Athens, O., Oct. 14.—John Rapak, 45, a Hungarian miner, was threatened with lynching because of his alleged attempt to mistreat Iva Cotterill, 6. American miners were about to wreak vengeance on him when officers arrived after a furious drive in an automobile, and took him from his enraged captors.

Fire Destroys Hotel.

Marietta, O. Oct. 14.—Hotel Longfellow, at Macksburg, was destroyed by fire with a loss of $20,000. Many of the guests were injured. William Shimp and Miss Delia Nicholas were both badly burned. The origin of the fire is a mystery The Doren drug store was also destroyed.

REFUSES TO RESIGN

Chief Millikin Resents Request From Cincinnati's Mayor.

Cincinnati,, O., Oct. 14.—The resignation of Chief of Police Paul Millikin was demanded by Mayor Schwab following a conference between Millikin, the mayor and Safety Director Scott Small. Neither of the men interested would discuss what occurred during the conference, but it is known that disclosures made during the recent police probe were under discussion. Millikin declares he will not resign.

"I have no idea what is behind this," Millikin stated "It is an entire surprise to me, because I know of no reason why I should be asked to resign."

The mayor says that Millikin is one of the purest men in Cincinnati's civic life, but that the police department needed a quieting influence and Millikin was unable to give it.

TO VISIT CANAL AFTER ELECTION

President Taft Fixes Date of Departure at Nov. 10.

HAS MANY PROBLEMS TO SOLVE

Will Decide Upon Form of Government For Zone Which He Will Recommend to Congress — Wants Everything In Readiness For Opening of Big Ditch on Jan. 1, 1915, the Date Fixed by Colonel Goethals For Completion of Work.

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 14—President Taft will this winter call upon congress to pass important legislation for the Panama canal. He considers the propositions which he will recommend in his coming message of so much importance that he has reversed his decision not to go to the isthmus this fall, and will leave on the trip Nov. 10, two days after the election. The president expects to be out of the country about 11 days, spending two or three days on the isthmus.

The president's decision to go to Panama was announced after a conference here with Colonel George W. Goethals, the army engineer in charge of the construction of the canal. Colonel Goethals was eager to have the president make the trip, and Mr. Taft was impressed by his arguments. Colonel Goethals again assured Mr. Taft that the canal will be ready for the formal opening by Jan. 1, 1915, at the latest, and he added without making any definite prediction that it was possible that the great work would be finished earlier.

The president intends to take up the problems that will face this government after the opening of the canal to the ships of the world, and it is in regard to some of these problems that he will be called upon to legislate this winter The president intends to have the machinery for the government and operation of the canal provided for so that it can be called into requisition without loss of time and without confusion.

What Form of Government?

One of the questions to be determined by the president is what form of government he will recommend to congress for the canal zone. At present the strip of land 10 miles wide across the isthmus is governed under executive order. The question presented is now whether the canal as a fortified post shall have a military government under the control of the war department or there shall be a civil government with only military rule for the fortified posts.

Colonel Goethals will urge the establishment of a military government for the entire zone. The colonel told Mr. Taft that he was inclined to this form because when the canal is completed there will be practically only "the ditch" with government employes and the fortifications within the zone owned by the United States The president himself will go to the isthmus with an open mind on this subject.

RATE BOOST DELAYED

Railroads Give Interstate Commission Further Time to Investigate.

Washington, Oct. 14 There will be no decision by the interstate commerce commission in the big rate cases until Feb. 1 and probably later, according to an announcement made at the office of the commission. The commission further announced that the railroads have again voluntarily suspended the enforcement of the proposed increased rates, pushing the effective date forward to Feb 1 By that time it is believed the commission will have completed its inquiry and will be in a position to know whether it approves the advances. The impression prevails here that the eastern railroads have made a good case before the commission.

MATHEWSON INVINCIBLE

Superb Pitching Wins Game For Giants Against Highlanders.

New York, Oct 14. Mathewson pitched good ball at the polo grounds and the giants defeated the Highlanders in the first game of the post-season series by the score of 5 to 1. Mathewson was pitted against Russell Ford, the remarkable youngster who was the sensation of the recent American league team, but Ford was outclassed by the veteran

The paid attendance was $21,398. The gross receipts were $19,262.75. Of this amount the players will receive $10,491 85, each club owner $3,467, and the national commission $1,926.27.

Attending Physicians Say No Cause For Alarm at Present.

Fort Dodge, Ia., Oct. 14.—Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver is resting easier and his physicians state that, while his condition is serious, it is not necessarily critical.

BEVERIDGE HEARS HIMSELF PRAISED

Large Crowd Greets Roosevelt at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 14.—Colonel Roosevelt was greeted by a remarkable crowd when he spoke in behalf of Senator Beveridge's candidacy. On the platform with the colonel were Senator Beveridge and Mr. Fairbanks, with the county chairman, Harry Wallace, who introduced Mr. Fairbanks, and the former vice president really warmed up He paid high tribute to Mr. Roosevelt's work and achievements as president, and remarked that he (Fairbanks) had given his whole support to President Roosevelt.

The colonel got an ovation when he arose to speak. The crowd was curious to see him as much as to hear what he had to say. He spoke for an hour and ten minutes. Mr. Roosevelt did not mince matters when it came to boosting Senator Beveridge. He characterized him as a man embodying the struggle for popular government and honesty in public life. He told the crowds that Beveridge did not split off from the rest of his party because he voted in accordance with the views of the bulk of the people, and he said before the next presidential election comes around the platform of our party will be precisely the platform for which Senator Beveridge stands. He said that he had come into Indiana to speak for Beveridge because he believes so emphatically in the cause for which he stands. If Indiana defeats Beveridge, Mr. Roosevelt said that they will not be able to explain to the American people on any other grounds than that Indiana declines to keep in office the public servant who refuses to ally himself with corrupt interests.

Passes Through Columbus.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14—Colonel Roosevelt passed through Columbus at an early hour this morning on his way from Indiana to New York. The train to which his private car was attached stopped 20 minutes at the Union station, but owing to the early hour there was no demonstration.

FIRE FATAL TO EIGHT

People Caught In Walls of Falling Building at Montreal.

Montreal, Oct 14—As the result of a fire which destroyed the Kings Hall building, a large business block on St Catherine street, eight lives were lost and a loss of over $100,000 entailed. The building was a five-story structure, in the heart of the uptown business district. The ground floor was occupied by stores and the other floors were taken up by a concert hall, a billiard parlor and sleeping apartments Thirteen people, including the caretaker, sleep in the building. Some of the occupants managed to escape, but others were overcome by the smoke and carried down with the ruins of the building which is a total wreck.

PRESIDENT TO REMOVE DOUBT

Will Raise Wreck of Maine By Bixby's Method.

SPAIN TO WATCH OPERATION

Huge Coffer-dam Will Be Built Around Battleship at Bottom of Havana Harbor In Order That Cause of Explosion May Be Determined With Certainty — Would Refute Stories That Government Is Afraid to Have True Conditions Known.

Beverly, Mass., Oct 14.—To settle for all time, if possible, the question as to the cause of the destruction of the battleship Maine in the Havana harbor 12 years ago, President Taft proposes to raise the wreck by the coffer-dam method. The plan as adopted by the board of army engineers appointed to investigate the condition of the wreck was submitted to the president by Major General H. Bixby, chief of engineers United States army, and was indorsed by Mr. Taft. General Bixby expects to have the wreck uncovered and free for inspection by Feb. 15 next, the thirteenth anniversary of the destruction of the vessel.

The impartial spirit in which the work of determining the character of the explosion is to be undertaken is indicated by the fact that Spain has been asked at the decision of the president to have a representative present during the work. The same courtesy has been extended to Cuba, and it is practically certain that both governments will accept.

President Taft considers the settlement of the question of the explosion as of supreme importance in the raising of the wreck and has directed that everything else be subordinated to it.

To Free Itself of Charge.

The president obviously intends that this government shall once and for all free itself of the charge that it has feared to have the Maine raised because of the possible reversal of the findings of the old court of inquiry. This court, appointed soon after the destruction of the battleship, gave its opinion after examining the wreck, by the aid of divers, that it had gone down as the result of an external explosion. Spain also had the wreck examined, and its representatives declared emphatically that the Maine had met its end through an internal explosion.

Since then Spaniards and some Cubans have not hesitated to charge that the inaction of the United States in regard to the wreck was due to a fear of the results. Even among some United States army and navy men there has been a disposition unofficially to question the accuracy of the findings of the old court of inquiry, which based its decision of external explosion chiefly on the fact that one keel plate was driven through the upper deck.

Art Dealer Arrested.

New York, Oct. 14.—Henry J. Duveen, head of the firm of Duveen Brothers, Fifth avenue art dealers, was arrested on board the Lusitania as the liner slowed down at quarantine. He is charged by customs officials with conspiring to defraud the government of customs duties by false affidavits, entries and other practices. He was released after furnishing $75,000 bond. It is said that the undervaluation of the art works imported by the firm will total nearly $1,000,000

Rain Checks Forest Fires.

Beaudette, Minn., Oct. 14.—The heavy thunderstorm that passed over Beaudette and Rainy River, and which was followed by a steady downpour quenched the forest fires, and swept eastward and as far south as Bemidji. The rain will greatly facilitate the work of the searching parties that have entered the area that was swept by fire.

Injured In Explosion.

Springfield, O., Oct. 14.—Joseph Haves, employed by Contractor M. J Cooney, was probably fatally injured by dynamite, which he was using, exploding in a sewer trench.
